We have seen that Jesus has transitioned from the “mighty works” phase of His ministry in Galilee, which provoked an interest in His ministry, to the teaching phase of His ministry as He journeyed to Jerusalem. Not only was He coming to bring salvation to the world, but also to destroy the works of the Devil, and crush the head of the serpent under His feet through the work of the disciples. Jesus encouraged the disciples in 10:17-24 not merely to rejoice that they had authority over the demons but to rejoice that their names are written in heaven. The Lord had chosen to reveal the Father to them in a way that was kept hidden to many others. In fact, they were able to see and hear things that the prophets and kings of the old covenant desired to see and hear. They were privileged to be part of the establishment of the kingdom of God through the work of the Messiah. What is more, they were part of the process of bringing this kingdom to the world. The result would be that Satan would continue to fall like lightning, and those who continued to reject the same would fall with him.

So too, we should be ever more rejoicing in the fact that the Father has chosen to reveal Himself to us through His Son and that we are named among His children. But with that assurance, like the disciples we are part of the plan of God to challenge and destroy the kingdom of Satan through the proclamation and application of the Word of God in the world. Will you trust the Lord to use you?

In order to properly understand this gospel, we need to keep in mind that Jesus was pressing people to decide how they will respond to Him and the disciples. Will they receive their message of peace and bring them into their lives and homes? Or would they reject Him and the disciples and persecute them? Will they show themselves to be the children who hear the word of the Son (9:35, 41, 44-49; 10:21-24) and respond with faith and obedience, or would they reject the teaching of the Son and have the judgments of God pronounced upon them? Today we will look at an example of each case.

I. The Good Samaritan Luke 10:25-37

This morning we come to the story of the Good Samaritan. Usually this text is read as a lesson in being kind to people (which it is). But if we look at it in its wider context we see that it reveals much more. Luke provides this story as a way to show that the leaders of Israel (represented in this story by a priest and Levite) were not willing to do what was required by the law, and were unwilling to accept His applications of the law to them. Jesus was the true interpreter of the law, and to reject Him is to reject eternal life.

Turn to Luke 10:25 where we read that a lawyer (expert in the law) stood up to test Jesus in the law. He posed the all important question, “Teacher, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?” This same question is raised in Lk. 18:18-23 at the end of the journey of Jerusalem by another ruler of the Jews. Jesus answered the man with a question, “What is written in the law? What is your reading of it?” Jesus implied that He is teaching nothing new, but rather, was explaining and applying what the law had always taught. The man responded by quoting a portion of the law often called the Great Shema (Deut. 6:4-5, “Hear, O Israel: The LORD our God, the LORD is one! 5 You shall love the LORD your God with all your heart, with all your soul, and with all your strength.”) and part of Lev. 19:18 (“You shall not take vengeance, nor bear any grudge against the children of your people, but you shall love your neighbor as yourself: I am the LORD.”). What is interesting the Lev. 19:18 text begins by saying that you should not take vengeance or bear a grudge, but rather you should forgive and love your neighbor. Jesus went on to say that if you did this, you would inherit eternal life. The text says that the man wanted to justify himself and his way of life by defining who his neighbor was as he thought good. But Jesus went on to show that all men are our neighbors, and that we have biblical obligation to love all men according to the law, even those we are no so comfortable with.

You all know the story. A man journeyed from Jerusalem to Jericho (presumably a Jew), and was attacked by robbers, leaving him half-dead. [Remember, Jesus was journeying to Jerusalem. The question that Luke is raising before the reader is, “Who is Jesus, and how will He be received?”] Both a priest and Levite (possibly on their way to minister before the Lord in Jerusalem) passed by the man without helping him. But a certain Samaritan, as he journeyed, had compassion on the man when he saw him. He not only felt compassion, but took actions to help him (i.e. he bandaged and cared for his wounds, set him on his own animal to carry him, and cared for him in an inn, paying the innkeeper continue to help the man until he was well). Then Jesus asked the lawyer a question, "So which of these three do you think was neighbor to him who fell among the thieves?" And he said, "He who showed mercy on him." Then Jesus said to him, "Go and do likewise." If you want to inherit eternal life, you will love God enough to love the people that God brings before you – your neighbor. The Samaritan proved that by "doing" the law of love, he was a "child" (cf. 10:10-21) who submitted to the authority of God, in contrast to the "wise and prudent" (cf. 10:21) priest and Levite. The Samaritan also represents Jesus, who as He journeys reaches out to seek and save those who are lost and in need of the love and mercy of God. This must have been goodnews indeed to the readers of Luke's Gospel because they were themselves outcasts.

By the use of this story, Jesus showed the lawyer (representing the leaders of Israel) that keeping the law means to love and show mercy to those whom you would not generally like and would in yourself be willing to pass by. By telling this story to the man, Jesus showed that the leaders of the Jews were not keeping the law, and were in effect rejecting the teachings of Jesus concerning the law because they did not love. Jesus was also teaching the disciples that the rejection of the leaders of Israel was more significant than the rejection that they experienced from the Samaritans in 9:52-53. The Samaritans were just keeping to themselves, but the leaders of the Jews were teaching others to reject the proper understanding of the law of God, and to reject the Savior when He came to the people. Their guilt was much greater than the Samaritans, who He says would be more inclined to keep the law because they were not so much influenced by the Jewish leaders.

By way of application, we too must be like the Samaritan man that was willing to love and show mercy upon someone whom he would not normally associate with. We cannot allow ourselves to be so separated from people that we cannot bring ourselves to love them according to the scriptures. Failure to love our neighbors as ourselves is a rejection of the love and mercy of God in our own lives. It demonstrates that we have not understood the work of God's love in our lives, which shows that we do not have biblical faith, leading to eternal life. We must go and do likewise!

II. Mary and Martha Luke 10:38-42

The text goes on to give us an example of properly receiving the Savior. It is the story of Jesus coming to "a certain village" (compare to 9:52-53, where the coming of Jesus was rejected by the Samaritans) and was received by Martha into her house.

Here sister Mary also sat at the feet of Jesus to hear His word (see 9:35, “Hear Him!”). These women have the child like posture of receiving in faith what Jesus was saying as He journeyed to Jerusalem (cf. 10:21), which is in contrast to that of the lawyer in the previous passage that came to test Jesus. These women were disciples of Jesus – giving attention to His words. This passage is a bit startling because in that culture it was not common for women to have this position with a rabbi/teacher. Only men were students of a rabbi. Luke shows us here that Jesus received these women as His beloved disciples because they heard His word. They were His “neighbors” – and loved them.

We know that both Mary and Martha love the Lord and become important friends with Jesus (along with their brother Lazarus; Jn. 11:1-44). In this story Martha became “distracted” (v. 40), and began to criticize her sister Mary for not helping her to serve Jesus. Martha went to Jesus and complained to Him that He should put Mary in her place, and make her serve with Martha. Jesus responded compassionately but instructively. Vv. 41-42 says, “Martha, Martha, you are worried and troubled about many things. But one thing is needed, and Mary has chosen that good part, which will not be taken away from her.” What was the “one thing needed?” [v. 39, to hear the word of Jesus!] To hear the words of Jesus is the most important thing as He traveled to Jerusalem. It is so important that one must not become distracted. Although Martha was distracted, she was not rejecting the Lord, as so many were doing (especially the leaders of Israel).

A final note on this passage: This is the first of four major meal scenes in the central section as Jesus journeyed to Jerusalem (10:38-42; 11:37-54; 14:1-24; 19:1-10). Jesus is a journeying guest, received by people into their homes for a meal for fellowship and to receive the word of Jesus. To receive Jesus at table is to receive Him as the Lord of the Banquet in the kingdom of God. As the Lord of the Banquet, He interprets the scriptures and reveals who He is and what sort of response people should have to Him as the Son of Man. The book of Luke ends with an important meal scene which draws all of these fellowship meals together (Luke 24:13-49), which we will study in detail.

III. Prayer to the Father along the journey Luke 11:1-13

In Luke 11:1-13 Jesus assured the disciples that the Father would care for and meet their needs as they called out to Him in prayer. When Jesus was praying in a certain place, one of the disciples asked Him to teach them to pray. He gave them what is known as the Lord’s Prayer (cf. Matt. 6:6-8). When Jesus sent out the seventy in 10:1-8 He told them not to take provisions for their journey, but to rely upon people in the cities they would go to. Here in 11:1-13 He taught them to trust God to provide for them through other people. He spoke to them about a journeying friend that needed provisions, who through persistent requests would be provided for. While God is not stingy with His provisions, He wants us to continually call out to Him to provide what we need. We are to ask (the Father), seek (from Him) and knock (on the door of heaven) in prayer, and the Father will lovingly provide all that we need. If our earthly fathers provide for us what we ask, how much more will our loving heavenly Father provide when we ask?

The message that Luke provides all of us is to hear the word of the Son of Man, and trust the Father that sent Him to provide all that we need as we journey through life. If we do so, we will be used by Him to establish the kingdom (rule) of God on earth as it is in heaven through our loving obedience to Him and love for our neighbors.

with, the office stressed, and the outline of the book of Luke.]

Throughout this Gospel Luke has presented Jesus as the Great Prophet to come. He has come seek and to save that which was lost by prophetically calling people to hear His words and to repent [which means to change their thinking and living]. The greatest prophet of the old covenant age, John the Baptist, had preached the same message to the people of Israel and even to King Herod. What was the response to his message? [Many came and were baptized unto repentance and followed after him, but others rejected His message, cf. Lk. 3:1-20; 7:18-35. John was beheaded by Herod for preaching against his sinful lifestyle, Lk. 9:7, 9]. John had prepared the way for the coming of the Son of Man, and now Jesus was on His way to Jerusalem to finalize the establishment of His kingdom through His death. On the journey to Jerusalem Jesus began to preach in a more clear and pronounced manner not only of salvation to Israel and the world, but also the judgment and destruction of the kingdom of Satan, and especially those who rejected Him in Israel. His prophetic word became, as we shall see, more sharply critical of the religious leaders of Israel for their rejection of Him as the Son of God and the true prophet that reveals the Father. Jerusalem, the center of true worship in the world, had become a place where the worship of God had become perverted, and the word of God rejected. Throughout her history, Israel had rejected the word of God and killed the prophets Yahweh sent to her. Now Jesus began to announce that such stiff-necked rebellion would be judged fully and finally on this generation because they rejected Jesus the greatest prophet of all.

I. Woe and Judgment for killing the prophets Lk.11:46-52; 13:34-35; 19:41-44

To understand this great judgment on Israel we will begin today by looking at three texts in this central section that show why God would judge Israel in the not too distant future.

Luke 11:46-52

46 And He said, “Woe to you also, lawyers! For you load men with burdens hard to bear, and you yourselves do not touch the burdens with one of your fingers. 47 Woe to you! For you build the tombs of the prophets, and your fathers killed them. 48 In fact, you bear witness that you approve the deeds of your fathers; for they indeed killed them, and you build their tombs. 49 Therefore the wisdom of God also said, ‘I will send them prophets and apostles, and some of them they will kill and persecute,’ 50 that the blood of all the prophets which was shed from the foundation of the world may be required of this generation, 51 from the blood of Abel to the blood of Zechariah who perished between the altar and the temple. Yes, I say to you, it shall be required of this generation. 52 “Woe to you lawyers! For you have taken away the key of knowledge. You did not enter in yourselves, and those who were entering in you hindered.””

Not only were the religious leaders refusing to hear Jesus and respond in faith, they were making it difficult for those who were trying to hear and believe in Jesus. They made hearing and believing hard by loading people with unbiblical laws and requirements. By this, they were demonstrating that they were like (even worse than) all of the evil and rebellious leaders of Israel in the past, and approved of all of the evil and rebellion of their forefathers. This generation would experience the just judgment of God against such wickedness because they represented in its fullest expression all the murderous rebellion of Israel in the past.

34 “O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, the one who kills the prophets and stones those who are sent to her! How often I wanted to gather your children together, as a hen gathers her brood under her wings, but you were not willing! 35 See! Your house is left to you desolate; and assuredly, I say to you, you shall not see Me until the time comes when you say, ‘Blessed is He who comes in the name of the LORD!’ ”

Jerusalem would be judged with the great destruction and desolation threatened by Yahweh in the old covenant. This desolation happened to Jerusalem during the exile into Babylon, and was predicted of this generation (Le 26:31,32; Ps 69:25; Is. 1:7,8; 5:5,6; 64:10,11; Dan. 9:26,27; Mic 3:12; Zech. 11:1,2; 14:2).

Luke 19:41-44

41 Now as He drew near, He saw the city [Jerusalem] and wept over it, 42 saying, “If you had known, even you, especially in this your day, the things that make for your peace! But now they are hidden from your eyes. 43 For days will come upon you when your enemies will build an embankment around you, surround you and close you in on every side, 44 and level you, and your children within you, to the ground; and they will not leave in you one stone upon another, because you did not know the time of your visitation.

Because Israel refused to see Jesus as the prophet of God, the Son of Man sent to visit her with both salvation and judgment, Jerusalem would be utterly destroyed. We know that this indeed happened in AD 70.

With this overview of an important part of the central section, we can now go back and look at 11:14-54 with a more clear understanding of what Jesus is talking about.

II. The Divided House of Israel Luke 11:14-36

In Luke 11:14f we have the account of Jesus' casting out a demon that had made a man mute [unable to speak], which caused the multitudes to marvel in amazement when they heard the man speak. But some of the people said in v. 15-16, "He casts out demons by Beelzebub, the ruler of the demons." Others, testing Him, sought from Him a sign from heaven."

These critics thought that Jesus was really in league with the Devil (referred to as Beelzebub, meaning "prince of demons." cf. Matt. 9:34; 10:25; 12:24, 27; Mk. 3:22). [This word probably has reference to a pagan god of Ekron from 2 Kings 1:2-16, called Baalzebub, meaning, "lord of the fly," or "lord of dung." In that passage the King of Israel was injured and sent to inquire of Baalzebub, the god of Ekron to see if he would recover. Consider how wicked it was for a leader of Israel to consult an idol rather than Yahweh, attributing to it knowledge and power reserved only for God.] They thought that Jesus was tricking them into thinking that He was from God, when He was really working for Satan. Jesus showed them the foolishness of this by saying that if that were the case, Satan would be destroying his own kingdom/house. Jesus told them in v. 20 that if He was casting out demons by "the finger of God" (cf. Ex. 8:19; 31:18; Deut. 9:10; Dan. 5:5; Jn. 8:6, 8) it was a sign to them that the Kingdom has come upon them. Jesus came to destroy the works of the Devil. Those who gather with Jesus are divided apart from and against Satan's house. Those who do not gather to Jesus have gathered against Him with the Devil, who is falling like lightning (Lk. 10:17-20), which is a sign that the kingdom has come. By opposing Jesus, it was a sign that the Jews were siding with Satan. Clearly, the house of Israel is divided and has gone over to the wrong side [just as they had done in 2 Kings 1.]

Jesus was cleaning up Israel by casting out demons. But if Israel refused to hear His words and repent, their condition would be worse than it was before He came. This generation was in danger of even greater wickedness for their rejection of Jesus (cf. Matt. 12:43-45). As Jesus spoke, a woman in v. 27 called out in admiration of Jesus. But Jesus responded in v. 28 by warning them that when He speaks the word of God, what is required is not admiration but faith and obedience.

Remember, in v. 16 some of the people sought from Him a sign from heaven. Now in vv. 29-36 He responded by saying that it is an evil generation that seeks for a sign when the word of God is preached (cf. Lk. 7:31; 9:41; 17:25; 21:32). He has been giving signs (like demons being cast out), and they did not believe. As we have seen before, as a whole, this generation was one that was refusing to believe in Jesus, and He characterized them as an “evil generation.” Even Gentiles of old repented when they heard the word of God. When Jonah reluctantly went to Nineveh they repented and believed (Jonah 3:5-10). When the Queen of the South heard the wisdom of Solomon responded properly (1 Kings 10:1-10). Jesus, the Son of Man is greater than both Jonah and Solomon, but that generation was refusing to respond to Him. This was a great warning to them because when the light of God’s word was being brought to them by the true prophet of Israel, they were refusing to come into His light and be saved.

III. Prophetic Cursing of the Pharisees and Scribes Luke 11:37-54

How could this happen? Vv. 37-54 tells us that Jesus was again invited to have a meal with a Pharisee. The Pharisee was amazed to see that Jesus did not wash His hand before dinner. Jesus began to show why Israel was having so much trouble believing in Him. The Pharisees were so concerned with their traditions that they were distracting people from keeping people from believing and living properly as the people of God. They kept these traditions flawlessly, but neglected to keep God’s word. They were keeping these traditions outwardly so that people would think well of them, but in their hearts they were wicked and filled with sinful pride. They were hypocrites. So much so, that they were leading the people away from God. It was the religious leaders that were making it hard for the people to believe in Jesus. It was the Lawyers, Scribes and Pharisees, by their example and teaching, that were keeping people from entering into the kingdom of God. Jesus’ words here are the strongest that we have seen in Luke. Thus, we see that the generation of Israel on the whole was an evil generation because of the Pharisees. And because of the evil of this generation, the worst in all of Israel’s history, the judgment of God would come upon them.

As a result of this stinging condemnation, the Scribes and Pharisees, rather than repent, began to oppose Jesus all the more, seeking a way to accuse Him before the courts of the Jews.

We must be careful to think God’s thoughts after Him. Proverbs 21:2 says, “Every way of a man is right in his own eyes, But the LORD weighs the hearts.” People have a tendency to drift away from God and His word of without even knowing it, and then we think that our way is God's way. After doing this, we often begin rejecting other people simply because they do not think and act just the way we do. This is and sinful pharisaical pride. Too many times people reject other Christians because they are not Presbyterians like us, or do not think or act like us. When we reject other Christians in such a way, we are dividing the kingdom of God, and hindering the Church from being a light in the world.

Not only so, hypocrisy is a terrible thing. In your heart you know when you are hiding behind self-righteous acts, but are in reality not honoring God. When you try to make people believe that you are more righteous than you are, you are merely willing to hide the sinfulness that is in your life. How much better it would be if we were all to acknowledge our sinfulness, and strive from righteousness together. When we allow ourselves to be seen for who we are, we are held accountable for being righteous, both inside and out. Not only so, we need to be so filled with the word of God that we are able to see the hypocrisy in others and prophetically call people to repentance, just as Jesus did.

[Authors, order, dates, Apostles associated with each gospel, faces of the cherubim, what period of biblical history each of the gospels is associated with, the office stressed, and the outline of the book of Luke.]

Last week we saw that the generation which Jesus and the disciples ministered to was an “evil generation” because they attributed Jesus’ destruction of Satan’s kingdom to “Beelzebub” or Satan (the word meaning the “prince of demons”) and the desire of the people for a sign. Why were the people saying such things? We saw that it was the Pharisees, Scribes and experts in the law of God that were leading the people to view Jesus this way. Jesus gave a strong warning to that generation. What was that warning? [Because the leaders of the people were acting like Israel of old that killed the prophets God sent to them (thereby showing their approval of the actions of the people of old), God would judge them for their rebellion. Jerusalem would be destroyed if the continued to refuse to repent.]

The declaration of the coming judgment came at one of Luke’s descriptions of a meal scene, which we have said is key to understanding this central section. The presence of Jesus required people to respond to His teaching with either receiving His message in faith and obedience, or rejection of His message with unbelief and rebellion. Throughout this section we see that people (especially the leaders of Israel) are not receiving Him, and this is reflected at table. By the time we get to the end of Luke, we see the disciples receiving the journeying guest at their table, where He is revealed to them fully according to what was written about Him in the Old Testament.

I. Warning to the disciples and growing crowds about the Pharisees

Luke 12:1-12

In the previous section (11:37-54) we saw the hypocrisy of the Pharisees while having a meal with a Pharisee. Jesus made it clear that the Pharisees were rejecting His authority, but because of the growing acceptance of Him by the crowds, they still wanted to look like they were still interested in Jesus. By eating with Jesus (making it look like they were having fellowship with Him) they were hiding their true feelings of growing hatred for Him and His message. As we have seen, the greatest sin of the Pharisees is not just denying Jesus (which Peter himself will do in Lk. 22:54-62, but is later forgiven), but is the sin of hindering others from believing in Jesus. The real problem with the Pharisees is that they negatively influenced the crowds (the generation) against Jesus.

Turn to Luke 12:1f where we see that the tension is growing in Luke's presentation of the journey to Jerusalem. An "innumerable multitude of people had gathered together" so that they were trampling each other. The crowds were growing in what seemed like support and acceptance of Jesus. But Jesus goes on to say to His disciples that they should "Beware of the leaven of the Pharisees, which is hypocrisy." When the Bible uses the word "leaven" it is not a symbolic reference to sin; but refers to a permeating influence that goes transforms the whole loaf. The Pharisees were having a dramatic impact on the crowds that would lead to the crowds speaking and acting like them. Eventually, the crowds would agree with the Pharisees and cry out for Jesus to be crucified. He warned the disciples to not be deceived by the Pharisees, like the crowds would be. In v. 3 Jesus said that whatever they had spoken in the dark would be brought to light. What He meant was that the message of peace preached in private homes by the 70 when sent out in Ch. 10 would be proclaimed opening and would not be destroyed, even by the hypocritical Pharisees. Certainly the religious leaders would try to kill many of the disciples (see 11:47-52), but they should not be afraid of them. Rather, they should fear God who has the power to kill not only the body, but also sent a person into hell (the word translated hell is "Gehenna" which refers to a burning garbage dump near Jerusalem that was used as a symbol of the fires of hell). Jesus told the disciples not to fear persecution because the Father will take care of them as they continue to witness and confess/speak openly about Jesus. V. 8 says that if the disciples confess Jesus before men (without fearing men, cf. v. 5) that the Son of Man would confess them before the angelic hosts of God at the judgment. But those who denied the Son of Man before men (because of fear of men, cf. v.4) would be denied by the Son of Man. He went on to say that the Holy Spirit would help them know what to say when they are persecuted – so don't worry. We need to confess the Son and trust Him to send the Spirit to empower and help us to declare Him to the world.

II. Do not strive or worry – The Father is giving the Kingdom Lk. 12:13-34

In vv. 13-21 we have the story of a man that came wanting Jesus to judge between himself and his brother about a problem he was having with the division of inheritance. This was important in Israel because the land was divided among the people, and passed on through inheritance. Jesus told “the parable of the rich fool.” This fool had land that made him very rich and wanted more riches still. He had a discussion with his soul about his wealth, desiring to be secure, take it easy and to eat drink and be merry. He wanted the easy life. But God said to the man, “You fool! “This night your soul will be required of you” (meaning, “you will die”), and then who will take possession of all these things you thought so important. The point is given in v. 21, “So is he who lays up treasure for himself, and is not rich toward God.” The person that is too concerned about money and just enjoying the easy life will find it hard to value God and a life of faith and obedience to God. We should be careful not to allow the concerns of everyday life confuse us into thinking that our concerns about money is the most important thing in life. To argue and strive for riches will distract us from loving God and other people. We should not covet money (the 10th commandment). The most important think is to live by faith in God and live for the sake of the Kingdom. Jesus went on in vv. 22-34 to say that we should not worry food or clothing because the Christian life involves more things than that. We should trust God who loves us and promises to take care of us. By worrying we cannot add a single day to our lives to provide what we need. Rather, we should seek the kingdom of God knowing that all of these things will be given to us, just as the Father does with the birds and flowers. Don’t worry about these things because God is giving us the Kingdom. If we do good with what we have (building the Kingdom through good works), we will be rich toward God and be given blessing by God in this life and the life to come.

III. Discern the Coming of the Son of Man Luke 12:34-13:9

Following His warning not to worry, Jesus went on to speak a parable about being ready for the coming of the Son of Man. The master of the house was away as a wedding feast. Faithful servants wait for their master to return by watching for Him. He may come at a time when the servants would not expect, so they need to be ready for him. Just as the rich fool was not ready for the coming day when his soul would be called to account, so now Jesus said that the disciples must be ready for Him. V. 40 says that the Son of Man will come at a time that the disciples will not expect. Jesus is the Son of Man that has come and is coming to Jerusalem as the journeying guest. There is an urgency to His coming. When He returns from the feast, the faithful servants will be alert and ready, and waiting to receive Him and to serve food to the rest of the servants of the household at the proper time. But the unfaithful servants are symbolized by eating and drinking unto drunkenness, showing their lack of readiness. Food and drink are symbols in this passage of a proper relationship of the disciples to Jesus. To be properly related to Jesus means enjoying his presence at the table (not like the Pharisees, 11:37f; but like Mary and Martha, 10:38f), and then serving others.

In v. 49 Jesus said, “I have come.” Now is the time for Israel to be prepared. Now is the time for the people to whom He has come to make a decision about Him. The coming of Jesus involves bringing division between those who would receive Him in faith and those who would reject Him in unbelief and rebellion. Even members of the same family (the closest human bond) will be divided against one another because of Jesus. Jesus goes on in vv. 54-59 to warn the crowds that the time had come for them to make a decision about Him. The crowds are hypocrites like the Pharisees He said in vv. 54-56. They can see clouds in the sky and know what it means – but are not able (or willing) to see that the time has come to repent because of the coming of the Son of Man. They could see what He had been doing and teaching, but were still refusing to believe. They did not have knowledge to understand the times because they were under the influence of the Pharisees (cf. 11:44, 52; 12:1-3). Vv. 57-59 says that the people accept that idea that a civil judge will make a judgment that will require justice, but are unwilling to see that Jesus has come to accuse them before the Father. They were in real danger of judgment, but were not willing to repent and accept Jesus in faith. Jesus was warning the crowds to decide from themselves and not to trust the Pharisees. They were hypocrites because they saw for themselves what was happening with Jesus but refused to make a decision for Him (hiding behind the Pharisees).

Luke shows us the final warning in 13:1-9. “At that time/season” (the same time that the people should have been able to discern as a time of decision, cf. 12:56) some people came and told Jesus about some Galilleans Pilate had killed (Luke shows us that Pilate is a blood thirsty, murderous man). Jesus said that this was a warning for this generation to repent, or they would perish also. He reminded them about a tower in Siloam that fell and killed 18 people. The people that died at Siloam and by the hand of Pilate did not die because they were terrible sinners, but this generation would likewise perish if it did not repent.

Finally, Jesus spoke a parable about the fig tree that did not bear fruit (like Israel, cf. Mk. 11:13; Hos. 9:10; Joel 1:7). Jesus was saying that it was time for Israel to bear the fruit of repentance or be judged. This time was almost over. The Son of Man was journeying to Jerusalem to die, and after that there would not be much time left to repent. If Israel did not repent, she would be cut down in judgment.

We have seen in the last two weeks that the crowds are being influenced by the Pharisees not to receive the coming Kingdom as Jesus makes it increasingly manifest by His prophetic/preaching ministry. Jesus called the Pharisees hypocrites because, although they hated Jesus, they tried to look like they are at least interested in His ministry because know that the crowds were so taken with Him. They were jealous of the popularity of Jesus, and were seeking to turn people away from Him. Not only so, but the

In our lesson today we have an extended teaching section that highlights again the hypocrisy and rejection of Jesus by the religious leaders, and the need for people to enter the kingdom of God by faith in Jesus.

I. Healing on the Sabbath in the Synagogue Luke 13:10-17

Turn to Luke 13:10f where we see that Jesus was teaching in one of the Synagogues on the Sabbath day. While He was teaching a woman came in that had been crippled (bent over and could not raise herself up) for 18 years and suffered under a spirit of infirmity/sickness. What does it mean to have “a spirit of infirmity?” [She was possessed by or mistreated by an evil spirit.] Keep in mind that Jesus was destroying the works of the Devil by casting out evil spirits (Lk. 7:21; 8:2). V. 12 says that when Jesus saw her he called her over to where He was and said to her that she was loosed from her infirmity, meaning that He had cured/healed her. After he laid His hands on her, immediately she was able to stand up straight and she glorified God. You would think that everyone would rejoice with her and praise God for what Jesus had done for her.

But such was not the case. The ruler of the synagogue was angry because Jesus had healed the woman on the Sabbath day, as if doing so was the sin of working on the Sabbath. What is interesting is that he spoke to the crowd and said that such a work could be done on any of the other six days of the week. Once again we see the leaders of the people trying to turn people away from faith in the Savior, hindering them from entering the Kingdom (cf. 11:52). Jesus responded by calling him a hypocrite! Certainly the man was willing to loose his animals from their stalls and do what was necessary for the wellbeing of on the Sabbath. How much more should he be willing to see a daughter of Abraham, who was bound by Satan for 18 years, be loosed from his bondage and healed on the Sabbath. [What Jesus did for this poor woman is what He is longing to do for Israel, delivering Israel from bondage to Satan. But the Pharisees unbiblical application of the law was preventing the salvation of Israel.] When Jesus had said this, v. 17 tells us that all His adversaries were put to shame and the multitudes rejoiced because of the good works Jesus had done.

II. What is the Kingdom like? Luke 12:18-35

A. A mustard seed

Even though the leaders of the Jews were making it hard for the people to enter the Kingdom by their hypocrisy, the Kingdom of God would be established. What is the kingdom of God like? It is like a mustard seed that grows to become a great tree in which the birds nest in the branches.

B. Leaven

What is the kingdom of God like? It is like leaven/yeast that penetrates and fills the whole lump of dough. Although the leaven of the Pharisees, their negative influence, is something to be concerned about, the Kingdom is like leaven that will fill the earth. Certainly the Kingdom will come and will have an impact on the world, despite the attempts of the Jewish leaders to stop it.

C. A narrow gate

V. 22 tells us that as Jesus continued His journey to Jerusalem He went teaching through the cities and villages. The Kingdom would grow through His teaching as His going to Jerusalem. Someone asked Him, “Lord, are there [only a] few that will be saved.” Certainly this was an important question because there were so many people that were rejecting the Lord. Jesus said that the way into the Kingdom was narrow and must be entered by faith in Him. Although many would want to partake of the benefits of the kingdom, only those who have responded to Jesus in faith true fellowship would be able to enter. This passage should not be read to mean that most of humanity would not be saved. What Jesus is saying that, of this generation, many will want to be in the Kingdom, but many will not because of unbelief.

He told a parable of a Master of the house that has closed his doors. Many will call out to be allowed entrance, but the Master will refuse them because He did not know them. They will complain to the Master saying, “We ate and drank in Your presence, and you taught us in the streets.” But the Master will command them to depart from Him because they were workers of iniquity. When Jesus will have come into His kingdom, even the religious leaders will recognize him as the Lord of the Kingdom. They had certainly heard His teaching and eaten with Him. But they had no faith or love for Jesus. They will be rejected by Jesus, just as He was rejected by them. These rejecters of Jesus will see the patriarchs and prophets, and men from the four corners of the earth coming into the kingdom, but they will be cast out (vv. 28-29). Those who thought they would be first in the Kingdom would in fact be last, not entering at all because of their unbelief (v. 30). In fact, Jerusalem itself would be left desolate because of her rebellion against the journeying Lord of the banquet (vv. 31-35). Had she received Him in faith, eaten and drank with Him in true fellowship, she would have been saved (like the few of that generation that would enter by the narrow way). By His going to Jerusalem, Jesus, the greatest prophet, would be killed for the salvation of those who would receive Him. But because of His murder, God would judge Jerusalem. By journeying to Jerusalem He will be taking up His kingdom. The people would soon say, “Blessed is He who comes in the name of the Lord” at the Triumphal Entry, on Palm Sunday (cf. 19:28-44). Just days before He was betrayed and killed, Jesus would be heralded as the coming Messiah. But because they would finally reject Him, they would seal their doom.

III. Healing on the Sabbath & Banquet Parables Luke 14:1-24

Once again Jesus went into the house of a Pharisee to eat with him on the Sabbath day (Lk. 14:1). Would the Pharisee eat with Jesus with faith and true friendship? Or would he be one of the workers of iniquity that would later be excluded from the kingdom (see 13:25-27). There was a man there with a disease called dropsy (a skin disease where water collects in various parts of the body). The lawyers and Pharisees, watching Jesus closely to see if He would do something wrong that they could charge Him with, asked Jesus if it was lawful to heal on the Sabbath. This is the same issue that was dealt with earlier in 13:10-17. Jesus answered them clearly and put them to shame. He answered them similarly to what He had before by showing them that they would do what was necessary to provide for the wellbeing of their animals on the Sabbath. The implication is that they should naturally do the same for people. By His answer, the faithless and wicked leaders of the Jews were unable to answer him back.

Jesus, sitting at a banquet, told banquet parables to those who were invited to eat with Him. He has become the master of the feast, controlling what is said and done. He said, when you are invited to a wedding feast, you should not sit in the most honored seat, because you may be asked to get up and let the guest of honor sit there. Rather, you should sit in the most humble seat, so that you may be later exalted to a more important seat. When you give a feast, be sure to invite the poor and needy (those who cannot repay you), for at the resurrection you will be blessed.

After they heard these things, one who heard Him said that it is a blessing to eat bread in the kingdom of God. He told another parable about a man that gave a great feast and invited many. But they made excuses and would not come. The master of the house was angry with them and commanded that the poor and needy be brought to His feast. He wanted His banquet filled with those who truly wanted to be there to rejoice with Him.

Israel had been given invitation to feast with Jesus in the Kingdom of God. But they refused to come. If they were not going to be given the first places in the kingdom, and if they had to submit to Jesus, they did not want to come. Jesus said that they would have no place in the kingdom of God.

The message of this whole section is that Jesus is the Lord/Master of the Kingdom. It is a kingdom that is characterized by love and kindness to the poor and needy. It is like a banquet and people from all over the world will be invited to sit with Him. Those who are willing to receive Jesus as the Lord of the banquet, eating and drinking with Him in faith and fellowship will be welcomed into His kingdom. Those who reject the kingdom message of Jesus, and eat and drink with Him hypocritically, will suffer under His judgment.

Chapter 14 concludes with a call to follow Jesus. Everyone that wants to sit with the Lord around His table in the Kingdom of God must count the cost. Anyone that wanted to build a tower (any building project) will make plans and count the cost of the project before he begins so that he can finish the job. Any king that needed to go to war would certainly make sure that he can win before he starts to fight. So too, those who would come after Jesus and be His disciple will count the cost. It may mean that friends and family may not like you anymore. It may mean that you will suffer persecution, or may have to sacrifice your time and money for the Kingdom. The disciples of Christ must be willing to suffer things for Jesus. We must be willing to bear his own cross for Christ. In so doing, we will be like salt that is useful for the Kingdom (cf. 9:23f).

As children born in Christian homes, you have been invited to sit with Jesus in His kingdom, just as the Jews were. But not everyone that sits with Jesus will do so in faith and true fellowship with Him. Some are only hypocrites. Some look like Christians, but their hearts are far from Him. You need to demonstrate your faith by caring for those who need to love of Christ (in your homes, at church, in your neighborhoods and all those around you). If you humble yourselves before God, He will exalt you in His kingdom. But if you refuse to live for Him, you may find yourself outside wanting in. Now is the time to decide to live for Christ. Now is the time to prepare yourself for Christian living as an adult. Hear the word of Christ that is being taught to you each day, and begin to live the life of faith and love. If you love the Lord, you can expect Him to use you to build His kingdom.

with, the office stressed, and the outline of the book of Luke.]

Our lesson to day continues a long teaching section in which Luke records a number of parables. We have seen that as Jesus journeyed to Jerusalem He was often seen having a meal with people. He used these banquet times as an opportunity to teach the people about the Kingdom of God and the relationship they should have with Him. The Kingdom of God is like a great banquet, which Jesus invites repentant sinners to come and partake in. Jesus said that He came to seek and to save sinners, and to have fellowship with them. From the beginning of His ministry in Galilee Jesus ate with tax collectors and sinners (cf. 5:30; 7:34). The Pharisees criticized him for associating Himself with such people, which led them to reject Jesus. Repeatedly Jesus even ate with the Pharisees (who were themselves also lost and sinful, needing to be saved, even though they did not know it). But they showed themselves to be in rebellion to Jesus at these meal times. They did not want to be a part of a Kingdom that included the likes of tax collectors and sinners. By rejecting the people that Jesus accepted, the Pharisees were rejecting the Kingdom of God, where the great feast of rejoicing would take place [linked to Lk. 14:15-24].

The Key verse that we have used to summarize the book of Luke is what? [Lk. 19:10, “The Son of Man has come to seek and to save that which was lost.”] Today we will look at three parables that use the metaphor of something lost being found: Sheep, Coin and a Son.

I. The Parable to the lost sheep Luke 15:1-7

In Luke 15:1-7 Jesus again responded to the charge that He was improperly receiving and eating with sinners as they drew near to Him (as He said that people should do in 14:25). Those who would not hear His voice and draw near to Him would be considered worthless and cast out (14:34-35).

In response to their charge against Him, Jesus told them the parable of the lost sheep. In this parable a man had 100 sheep. When one of the sheep became lost, He left the 99 in the wilderness to find the 1. When He found the sheep He laid it on His shoulder and rejoiced. Not so, He gathered His friends to rejoice with Him. Iv. 7 says, "I say to you that likewise there will be more joy in heaven over one sinner who repents than over ninety-nine just persons who need no repentance." This is similar language to what we saw in 5:30-32 where Jesus said that it is the sick that needs a doctor, not the healthy person. Jesus came to save the sinners because they were sick and lost. The Pharisees did not think themselves sick and in need of healing, or lost and in need of being saved. Jesus was saying, in effect, 'If you Pharisees don't think you need to be saved (which they did), fine. I will seek and save those who know themselves to be lost. Heaven will most certainly rejoice, and so should you!'

Jesus was not saying that sinners would be accepted just as they were. All sinners must repent. They must know themselves to be sinful and to change their minds and hearts and begin to follow Christ in righteousness. When any sinner repents, Jesus and all of heaven rejoice!

II. The Parable to the lost coin Luke 15:8-10

He goes on in vv. 8-10 to tell the parable of the lost coin. When a woman loses one of her 10 coins, she would turn on the lights and sweep the house until she finds it. And when she finds the coin, she calls her friends to rejoice with her. Likewise, v. 10 says, there is joy in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner who repents."

Jesus is the one sent by "heaven" (cf. vv. 7, 10, 18b, 21) to Israel to seek the lost sheep of Israel and work for the repentance of those who have ears to hear (14:35). He is seeking out the lost and separated people in the society of Israel and bringing them to the table fellowship of repentant sinners.

We too must be followers of Christ that are willing to receive in fellowship those whom Jesus receives. We must not be like the Pharisees that rejected sinners simply because they did not live the way they did.

III. The Parable to the lost son Luke 15:11-31

Jesus went on in vv. 11-31 to illustrate the sinful responses of the Pharisees by telling the parable of the lost son (also known as the Prodigal/wild and foolish Son).

In this parable Jesus is likened to the father that joyfully receives back his lost son. the Pharisees are likened to the older son.

We all know the story. A man had two sons. The younger son asked his father for his part of his inheritance. The father divided and gave the inheritance to each of the sons. The younger son went to a far country and wasted his possessions in a wasteful and foolish manner. When he had spent all he had, and a famine came into the land, he was very poor and needy. He got a job feeding pigs, and was so hungry that he desired to eat pig food. Eventually, through his poverty and self-imposed difficulty, he came to his senses and wished that he were one of his father's hired servants. He determined to go back to his father and repent, saying in vv. 18-19, "I will arise and go to my father, and will say to him, 'Father, I have sinned against heaven and before you, and I am no longer worthy to be called your son. Make me like one of your hired servants.'"

When the son returned to his father, the father saw him a long way off and ran to hug and kiss him with great love and forgiveness. The son, in true repentance, said in v. 21, 'Father, I have sinned against heaven and in your sight, and am no longer worthy to be called your son.' His father did not receive him back as a hired servant, but as his lost son whom He loved. Because of His great joy, the father gave a feast to celebrate the return of His son [just as heaven rejoices at the repentance of a lost sinner].

Now the older son had remained faithfully at home working for his father. When he heard the party (music and dancing) he asked what was going on. When he heard that his father was giving a feast for his foolish/sinful brother, he was angry and would not go into the party. His father came out and pleaded with him to come and join the feast. But the son refused to come because he was jealous that the father had never given a feast for him. The father responded by saying that it was right to celebrate because his brother was dead to them but now is alive again. He was lost, but now he has been found.

The younger son represents all sinners that would be willing to repent of their sin and come to Jesus. Because the lost son went to a far away country, these sinners may include Gentiles that come to Christ (15:13). Just as the older son said that he had not disobeyed any of the commandments of the father (15:29), the Pharisees believed that they had kept the law of God perfectly. By being critical of Jesus for eating with tax collectors and sinners they were saying that they were more righteous than the sinners that Jesus ate with (and probably Jesus Himself). They were convinced that they were not sinners, and that sinners should have no place in the Kingdom of God. Of course no one can properly claim to be without sin (1 Jn. 1:7-9), and so they were both filled with pride and hypocrisy. The Pharisees should have been happy to see sinful people repenting of their sin and coming to Jesus. They should have come in and feasted with Jesus and those who were coming into the Kingdom of God. But because they were filled with envy and self righteousness, they were unwilling to come to Jesus and join the Kingdom feast.

The book of Luke was written originally for a primarily Gentile audience, who were becoming an important part of the Church. Both Jews and Jewish Christians often found it difficult to celebrate the inclusion of the Gentiles. These stories of the lost Son, lost coin and lost sheep would have been a tremendous comfort to these new believers. I would also be a correction to those who would act like the older brother and refuse to celebrate the fact that sinners from all around the world were now being found by the Savior.

Jesus has been calling upon His followers to make exclusive choices: Accept the invitation by Jesus to enter the Kingdom and serve Him, or serve yourself outside of the Kingdom. While the Kingdom is like a mustard seed that will grow into a great tree allowing the birds of the air to nest in its branches (13:18-19); and it is like leaven that will spread throughout the world (13:20-21) – it is also a narrow gate through which people must enter (13:22-30). While it may have appeared to the disciples of Christ that there were many who would come into the Kingdom (13:25), most would abandon Jesus as they came to discover the high cost of following Him (14:25-35). But Jesus came to seek and to save that which is lost (like a sheep, coin and son, 15:1-32; cf. 19:10). Those sinners that repent of their sinfulness and turn to the Son of Man will find forgiveness and joy in the Kingdom of God. There will be rejoicing and feasting in the Kingdom of God for all those who come humbly to the Son.

One of the important lessons of the parables of the lost sheep, coin and prodigal son is the issue of being a good steward of money. God wants us to use money wisely and in a godly way for His kingdom. The wise shepherd and woman did what it took to find the lost sheep and coin, and rejoiced when they were found. The prodigal son, on the other hand, foolishly wasted the money he received in the inheritance. How a person uses the money God entrusts to him reveals much about his heart. If a person is generally selfish, he will often desire money more than loving God and his neighbor. He will often use his money only on himself and not use it to help other people. Money is not a bad thing in itself. God gives us money for our good and for the building of His kingdom. But we must be very careful to use our money wisely and for the Lord.

The Pharisees were lovers of money (16:14). They were to be servants in the household of God. But they used their influence in Israel for their own selfish purposes rather than for the Kingdom of God. Much of our lesson for today deals with the need to be godly in our use of money, unlike the Pharisees.

I. Money and the Kingdom Luke 16:1-31

A. Parable of the Unjust Steward Luke 16:1-13

Turn to Luke 16:1-13 where Jesus spoke directly to the disciples (although the Pharisees are still able to hear what is going on, v. 14) to prepare them to live in the world wisely. This passage is related to the “wise steward” of 12:42-48 who is waiting for the coming of the master of the house and is busy doing the works required of him. It provokes a choice in the minds of the disciples: they could choose between being wise stewards in the household of God (being “sons of light,” v. 8) or unrighteous stewards over the house of mammon (money) in the world (this generation of the “sons of this world,” v. 8).

An unjust/unfaithful/irresponsible steward (like a business manager today) did that which the prodigal son had done, he wasting the goods of the master/father. He had been a bad manager (not administrating household well). He was not a thief, or the master would have had him arrested and charged with a crime. The master determined to fire the steward from his job.

Knowing that he would soon lose his job, the unjust steward did not want to do hard labor or beg. So he went to the people that owed the master money and diminished the debt considerably (improperly and dishonestly), which made the debtors like him so that when he lost his job he would be able to live without doing hard labor or begging. He had been clever and had provided for his future by making friends of the people that previously owed his master money. The master spoke well of the servant because he had been so clever. This is the way men get along in this world. They do what it takes to get along well.

The lesson of this parable is given to us in vv. 9-13. Jesus was not using this parable to say that we should be dishonest with money. Rather, Jesus wanted to teach the lesson that the disciples should be wise in the way of money so that they will have friends in this world to take care of them as they go out to do Kingdom work. We are to use money in such a way that when trouble comes, people will want to help us out. We must understand that the Lord gives us money to use for Him. If we are faithful in the use of our money, He will give us even greater responsibility in His Kingdom. [Read 16:10-12]

We must be very careful to remember that we are to serve Jesus, and not waste our lives merely pursuing money (v. 13). If we are more concerned with money in our lives than loving and obeying Christ, we will be trying to serve two masters. That will never do in His Kingdom. We all must choose between being servants in the household of God or being servants in the household of mammon/money with the sons of this age. The key to being a good servant in the household of God is to be faithful in the small things of life (with money) so that God will give you even greater blessing and responsibility in the Kingdom of God. Learn the discipline of being a faithful son or daughter in the small things of life now.

B. The Pharisees and Money Luke 16:14-31

1. The Law, the prophets and the Kingdom Luke 16:14-18

V.14 tells us that the Pharisees heard these words of Jesus and did not like what they heard because they were lovers of money. They were men that loved money more than doing what God commanded in the law. They made themselves look good before men, but God knows the hearts of all men. The sons of this world highly esteem success and wealth, even in unrighteous men, but God considers the way of the world an abomination.

The law and the prophets were taught until John. With the coming of Jesus, the coming of the Kingdom of God has been preached (v. 16-17). Those who truly want to a place in the Kingdom have been pressing into it by believing in Jesus and keeping His word. All of the law and prophets spoke of the coming of Jesus. Not one little word of them will fail as Jesus builds the Kingdom. But the way of the Kingdom is hard for those who are more concerned with the ways of this world. Those who do not press into the Kingdom in faith, will find it hard to obey the Lord even in great matters of their lives. They will find it easy to disobey God, all the while disobeying the Lord. Thus, Jesus gave an example of how people disobey God in v. 18 by commanding us not to get a divorce except for adultery. The Pharisees taught that they could get a divorce for any reason, thinking that they were obeying the law. Jesus is saying that we should not be like the world (like the Pharisees), but should keep the law of God completely.

2. The Parable of the Rich Man and Lazarus Luke 16:19-31

Jesus went on in Luke 16:19-31 to illustrate the consequence of being lovers of money that was characteristic of the Pharisees. He likened them to a rich man that wore fine clothes and ate good food everyday. They were eating and drinking themselves into hell because they valued money more than serving God and men. There was a poor and sick man named Lazarus that was a beggar that desired merely to eat the crumbs from the rich man's table. Lazarus died and was carried to "Abraham's bosom" (which means he went to heaven with the other faithful saints). The rich man also died and went to Hades (a place of torment for the unfaithful dead, like Hell). The rich man called out to Abraham to send Lazarus to give him the comfort of a little water. Abraham responded to the man in vv. 25-26, "Son, remember that in your lifetime you received your good things, and likewise Lazarus evil things; but now he is comforted and you are tormented. And besides all this, between us and you there is a great gulf fixed, so that those who want to pass from here to you cannot, nor can those from there pass to us." It was too late for the rich man. What he had done with his life had determined what would happen in the next life. The rich man then asked that a warning should be sent to his brothers so that they did not have to endure the same sufferings. But Abraham said to him that they had the law and prophets which they should hear in faith.

We have been given the word of God to teach us all that we need for this life in preparation of the next life. If we do not learn from the scriptures now, we will most certainly regret it later. We must all choose how we will spend eternity by how we live our lives today. If we are selfish today, we will suffer the consequence of Hell. If we faithfully love and serve God in our lives today, we will enjoy the rewards of Heaven forever. Choose this day to serve the Lord and those He sends to us.

III. Kingdom Instructions Luke 17:1-10

Our lessons concludes today in Luke 17:1-10 by encouraging us to faithfulness. We need to be careful not to allow the way we live our lives to cause others to stumble. If the way we live causes others to sin or to not believe in Christ, it would be better for us that a millstone (very large stone used for grinding grain) were hung around our neck and be cast into the sea.

If someone sins against us, we should rebuke/correct him and forgive him if he repents. Even if he repents 7 times a day we should forgive him. We should so understand how God has forgiven us that we are willing to forgive any sinner than repents.

These things are hard for us. The disciples knew this and asked Jesus in v. 5 to increase their faith. Jesus responded by saying that even a small amount of faith is sufficient to move mountains. If we merely believe what He has said to us, we can be faithful servants in the Kingdom of God. Even the kingdoms of this world will be brought into the Kingdom of God if we are but faithful everyday to do what He has commanded us. If we do what we are commanded by the Lord, we will not say that we deserve special blessing from the Lord. Rather, we will understand that we are merely His servants, doing what He calls us to do. Certainly there is the reward of Lazarus, to be with Jesus forever in heaven. But our goal in life should be just to be a faithful servant of Christ.

Which way will you choose in life? Will you be selfish lovers of money or will you use money wisely in service to God and men? Will you be someone that just goes through life doing your own thing (whatever that is), or will you hear God speak to you in His word and obey Him? If you choose to love and obey the Lord, there is the hope of everlasting life and His blessing upon you. If you choose the way of this world you can expect nothing but torment and the condemnation of Him who came to seek and to save those who would hear His voice. Hear His voice this day and live for Him!

[Authors, order, dates, Apostles associated with each gospel, faces of the cherubim, what period of biblical history each of the gospels is associated with, the office stressed, and the outline of the book of Luke.]

Review the outline. Turn to Luke 17:11 where Luke reminds us that Jesus continued to journey to Jerusalem. Throughout this section we have seen Jesus calling people to come to Him/follow Him. The cost of following Him is to hear His words and repent of your sin. The Pharisees have increasingly refused to hear His prophetic teaching and to receive Him. They have not only shown themselves unwilling to enter into the Kingdom of God through faith in the words of Jesus and repentance, but have made it harder for the crowds to do so. Because they feared losing favor with the crowds and because they loved money, the Pharisees were resisting Christ.

Jesus came to seek and to save that which was lost (tax collectors and sinners). He came to heal and to preach to all that would hear and believe. The question for those all men is whether they will receive Him.

I. The 10 Lepers Cleansed Luke 17:11-19

In Luke 17:11-19 we see that Jesus went through Samaria (and Galilee) on His journey to Jerusalem. [Review with the students where Samaria is on the map and that the Jews generally refused to have any relationship with the Samaritans.] When Jesus entered a certain village, 10 men with the disease of leprosy called out for Jesus to have mercy on them (presumably to heal them). We have already seen that Jesus had healed a leprosy man (Lk. 5:12-15, cf. 4:27). These men stood afar off, in accordance with the Old Testament law of God (Lev. 13:45-46; Num. 5:2-3; 12:14) because they were ceremonially unclean. Jesus told them to show themselves to the priests. Leviticus 13-14 commands anyone with leprosy to show themselves to the priests. After anyone was healed of the disease the priests would then sprinkle them with water and pronounce them clean. As the ten men went away, they were cleansed/healed. Apparently, the men went to the priests and were declared clean. One of the ten returned to Jesus (v. 15) and with a loud voice glorified God and fell down at the feet of Jesus with thanksgiving. This man was a Samaritan/foreigner (vv. 16, 18). Jesus pointed out that the other nine (who were presumably Jews) did not return and give glory to God nor were thankful. It may have been that the other ten did not want to associate with Jesus because the priests spoke against Him. Whatever the reason, they did not demonstrate faith in Jesus. Jesus told the Samaritan healed of leprosy to arise for his faith had healed Him (v. 19).

The point of this is that the saving work of Jesus would extend beyond Israel, even to the Samaritans. The Jews were not generally receiving and believing in Jesus as they should be. This story reminds us of the story of how the Good Samaritan (Luke 10:25-37) did the works of the Kingdom of God, and how the leaders of the Jews (priests and Levites) were unwilling to do the works God required in the Law. This story of the ten lepers also reminds us of the shepherd that was willing to leave the 99 sheep to find the 1 lost sheep. Jesus will save everyone that has faith in Him.

II. The Coming of the Kingdom – In the midst of them Luke 17:20-37

The Pharisees asked Jesus about WHEN the Kingdom of God would come (v. 20). This seems like a very good question to ask, considering the fact that John the Baptist and Jesus had been preaching the coming of the Kingdom. What were the Jews expecting when the Messiah would come to establish His Kingdom? [They were expecting the Messiah to free them from the oppression of the Romans and to rule the whole world from His throne in Jerusalem. It was mostly a political Kingdom. It did not include the idea of going to Jerusalem to die on a cross or to be ascended to heaven and rule the world from the right hand of the Father.]

As Jesus was traveling to Jerusalem, the expectation was growing among the people that He was about ready to take up His Kingdom (see 19:11). There were many that thought that Jesus was about to solve all of their national and political troubles, which is why they were following Him. They were expecting something like Presbyterian/Christian President that would help them make a better government. They were not expecting a Savior from their sins.

In answer to the question about WHEN the Kingdom of God would come, Jesus told them that it is not so much a question of timing (“when”), but of WHERE the Kingdom would come. Jesus wanted them to understand that the Kingdom had already come because HE had come. The Kingdom was in the midst of them. WHEREVER HE went and people began to hear His message and respond to Him in faith and repentance from their sins (like the Samaritan leper or the prodigal son), that is WHERE the Kingdom is.

The days would soon come when the people would greatly desire to see the coming of the Son of Man, but would not see it (vv. 22-24). They would say, ‘Look here!’ or ‘Look there!’ But Jesus warned them not to follow after others that would seem to be the Messiah because when His day comes it will be as obvious to them as lightning in the sky. The “day of the Son of Man” coming refers to the prophecy of Daniel 7 where the Messiah would be brought to heaven and given the Kingdom and would rule over the whole world. In v. 25 Jesus said, “But first He must suffer many things and be rejected by this generation.” Before Jesus would receive the Kingdom in its fullest manifestation, He would suffer death by those who rejected Him. Because it would be Israel that rejected Him (not just the Romans), Israel would experience the judgment of God. A judgment that would be so severe that Jesus likened it in vv. 26-32 to the worldwide flood with Noah and the judgement of Sodom with Lot. The judgment of God against Israel would be total: Jerusalem would be destroyed along with the temple and the whole Jewish system. Jesus, as the King of the whole world, would not only come in judgement against the Gentile rejecters of His Kingdom, but all of those who have opposed Him, including Israel. By rejecting Jesus, the Jews were also rejecting the Kingdom of God, and would be judged for their hard heartedness.

Life will go on as normal until the last moment. God’s Kingdom would continue to be within their grasp. It was in the midst of them and something that they could get hold of. But the people that Jesus was preaching to must enter the Kingdom by faith and obedience to His word. The Kingdom was in their midst, but they must grasp on to it. Jesus’ warnings in this section came true in AD 70 with the destruction of Jerusalem.

III. Kingdom Faith Luke 18:1-30

A. Parables of true faith Luke 18:1-14

1. The persistent widow Luke 18:1-8

Jesus went on to tell them a parable to teach them to always pray and not lose heart or get discouraged. There was a widow that needed justice in court against someone. She persistently appealed to the judge to grant her the justice that she sought, even though he was not a particularly just man. Eventually the unjust judge gave into her desire simply because he did not want her to continue to trouble him. Jesus applied this parable to Israel by saying that God will more certainly (than the unjust judge) provide justice and avenge the wrongs done to His chosen ones who cry out to Him. Jesus was saying to the disciples that they should pray to God day and night that He should come and bring His just judgments against those who persecute them. It may feel like God is delaying His justice (40 years from the AD 30 to AD 70), but most assuredly God will judge Israel for rejecting Jesus and the disciples. What kind of faith will the Son of Man find when He comes in that judgment?

2. The Pharisee and the Tax Collector Luke 18:9-14

Jesus answered the question about what kind of faith He will find when He comes. There will be two kinds of faith: 1) the kind of faith found in the Pharisees, who in pride, justify themselves before God; and 2) the kind of faith found in those who know themselves to be sinners and trust in God alone for mercy and salvation.

B. Receiving the Kingdom as a Child Luke 18:15-17

In Luke 17:25 Jesus said that He would suffer many things and be rejected by that generation. We have seen before in Luke 10 that Jesus sent the 70 disciples to prepare the way for His coming, but warned them that they would be rejected as well. He said that the Kingdom had largely been hidden from the wise and powerful people of the world, but that the Father had revealed it to babes (10:1-24). Now in 18:15-17 we get another picture of the kind of faith required in the Kingdom of God: receiving the Kingdom as a little child (babe). The occasion for this instruction is parents bringing their little children to be touched/blessed by Jesus. Previously we have seen that it was the Pharisees that were making it hard for people to enter the Kingdom. They were opposing/rejecting Jesus because He was in the habit of associating with tax collectors and sinners, whom Jesus has identified as “babes” to whom the Kingdom has been revealed. In addition to these “babes” now come little children (literally the word in the Greek is “infants”). But this time it is not the Pharisees, but the disciples that rebuked the parents. They thought that bringing children to Jesus was a waste of His time. What was important to them was being able to teach the wise and prudent about the Kingdom (see 10:21-24). But Jesus said that the children should be brought to Him, because “of such is the Kingdom of God.” Children do not resist the Kingdom of God like the Pharisees (and disciples), but receive it. Whoever does not simply receive the words of Jesus just like the infants received His touch and blessing, they will not be able to enter the Kingdom of God. We must not only allow everyone that receives Jesus, we too must be careful to receive the words of Jesus in simple faith and obedience.

C. Rich Young Ruler Luke 18:18-30

This section concludes with the story of another ruler of the Jews coming to Jesus seeking eternal life (see the story of the rich young ruler and the Good Samaritan in Luke 10:25-37). These two stories are very much alike. Jesus told the man to do what God had commanded in the law. The man said that he had always kept the law

(which we know is not possible because all have sinned). But Jesus did not argue with the man, but simply told him to sell what he had and give it to the poor and follow Him. The man became very sorrowful because he was very rich. His riches were more important than obeying Jesus and following Him. As we have seen, riches are more important to many people than loving God and other people. This was especially true of the Pharisees (see Luke 16:14-31). When Jesus saw that the man was sorrowful, He said that it is harder for the rich to enter the Kingdom of God than for a camel to go through the eye of a needle. Those who heard this said, "Who then can be saved?" If it is that hard to enter the Kingdom of God, how are we going to be saved? Jesus said that what seems hard to men is not hard for God. God is able to save babies and all sinners and tax collectors that receive Jesus in faith and obedience. Those who sacrifice themselves for the Kingdom of God will certainly be rewarded in this life, but in the age to come with salvation.

The lesson for us today is to not reject Christ because of riches, or popularity in the world. Rather, we should receive Him just as little children do. They grow up learning about Jesus and how to live for Him. They do not question Him or reject Him. When difficulty comes, we must persistently pray to the Father and He will provide what we need. We can trust God to save us and to provide all that we need in this life and in the life to come.

[Authors, order, dates, Apostles associated with each gospel, faces of the cherubim, what period of biblical history each of the gospels is associated with, the office stressed, and the outline of the book of Luke.]

As Jesus journeyed to Jerusalem, there was a growing belief that when He arrived at Jerusalem that the Kingdom of God would appear (17:20; 19:11). Jesus had explained that the Kingdom of God was already in their midst because He had come (see 17:20-25). The disciples, the crowds and even the Pharisees could enter the Kingdom of God if they were willing to hear the words of Jesus and believe in Him.

I. Prediction of death Luke 18:31-34

Having said that the Kingdom was in the midst of the people following Him to Jerusalem, Jesus said connected with His coming was a rejection of Him by this generation that would lead to His suffering (Luke 17:25). Now in Luke 18:31-34 Jesus clearly tells the twelve disciples privately that when they get to Jerusalem, His mission as written of by the prophets would be fulfilled (see Dan. 7; Ps. 22; Is. 53). But the fulfillment that He told them about was not what they expected. They were expecting Him to take His throne in Jerusalem as the King of Israel and expel the Romans. Instead Jesus told them that He would be delivered (by this generation. 17:25) to the Gentiles (Romans) to be mocked, insulted, spit upon, scourged, put to death and be raised from the dead on the third day. V. 34 tells us that because the disciples had other expectations of their coming to Jerusalem they could not understand any of this. It didn't make any sense to them.

II. In Jericho

Luke, we have seen, described Jesus as the great prophet like Moses whom Israel was called upon to hear (Deut. 18:15-18). Israel has been in a type of wilderness wandering from the time of the exile in Babylon until the coming of Jesus. Now Jesus is finally bringing His people into the Promised Land again, now called the Kingdom of God. This comes through His death in Jerusalem. What was the first city that Israel conquered when they entered the promise land after the Exodus from Egypt? [Jericho] Now, as Jesus concluded His journey to Jerusalem to bring His people into the Kingdom of God, Jesus takes His people to Jericho again. This time He comes not to destroy Jericho, but to seek and to save that which is lost.

A. Healing of the Blind Man Luke 18:35-43

As Jesus came near Jericho with a multitude of people following Him, a blind man cried out to Him, saying, “Jesus, Son of David, have mercy on me!” This is similar to the cries of the ten lepers in Luke 17:11-19. Those who were near the man told him to be quiet, but he cried out all the more. Jesus stood still and commanded that the man be brought to Him and asked what he wanted Jesus to do for him. The man responded by saying that he wanted to receive his sight. Just as He said to the one leper that returned to Him, Jesus said in v. 42 that his faith had saved him. Immediately he received his sight, followed Jesus and glorified God. All the people also gave praise to God when they saw what had happened.

Clearly, the Kingdom of God was in the midst of the people. The King has come to establish His Kingdom, as evidenced by such wonderful signs as the healing of lepers and the blind man (see Luke 7:22 where John the Baptist asked if Jesus was the Coming One; cf. 14:21).

B. Feasting with Zacchaeus Luke 19:1-10

As Jesus entered and was passing through Jericho, a rich tax collector named Zacchaeus (which means “pure”) wanted to see Jesus but could not because he was too short to see above the crowd. Zacchaeus climbed up a sycamore tree to see Jesus as He passed by. Clearly, Zacchaeus was more than just a little curious about Jesus. He was coming to a place of faith in the Lord. When He came to the place where he was, Jesus told Zacchaeus to come down because He wanted to stay at His house (Jesus wanted to dine there with this tax collector, as He had done so often, see 5:27-30; 7:29-34; cf. 15:1; 18:9-14). V. 7 tells us that all of the people there saw this and murmured saying, “He has gone to be a guest with a man that is a sinner” (5:27f; 7:34-39; 15:1-2; 18:11). Once again the crowds are misunderstanding what the Kingdom is all about. It is repentant tax collectors and sinners that are given a place in the Kingdom of God, and by their murmuring they demonstrate a spiritual pride that refuses to repent of sin, and they hindered one another from entering the Kingdom. The story goes on to tell us that Zacchaeus gave half of what he owned to the poor, and that if he had taken anything by false accusation he would restore it by four times as much (Lk. 3:12-13). In v. 9 Jesus assured Him that by doing such things, Zacchaeus demonstrated saving faith, making Him a true son of Abraham. Then Jesus uttered the words that we have chosen to use as a key verse for the book of Luke: “For the Son of Man has come to seek and to save that which was lost.”

This story pulls together much of what we have seen in the last few chapters about those whom Jesus was calling to follow Him.

1. Zacchaeus is a repentant tax collector (a traitor to Israel and a sinner), the kind of person Jesus came to seek and to save. By receiving Jesus in faith Zacchaeus was invited by Jesus to sit with Him in His Kingdom. Those that murmured against Jesus for being a guest of Zacchaeus’ would not be invited to sit with Jesus in the Kingdom. Zacchaeus is like the humble tax collector in the parable told by Jesus in 18:9-14. He was not like the self-righteous Pharisee in the parable, or like the crowds outside.
2. Zacchaeus, being a “small” man (represented the fact that he was a sinful tax collector, as opposed to the great men of this generation), was one of the “little ones” that Jesus had spoken of that will have the truth of the Kingdom revealed to them and will receive it with humble repentance. [See Lk. 7:28 for the “least” in the Kingdom; 9:48 like a “little child”; 10:21 a “babe”; 18:15-17 receiving the Kingdom as a “little child”].
3. He is a rich man, but did not love his wealth more than faith in Jesus. [cf. 16:1-14]. Although it is hard for a rich man to enter the Kingdom of God, all things are possible for God, who has sent Jesus to seek and to save all that are lost [see Lk. 18:18-30]. Zacchaeus gave his money to the poor and paid back what he had dishonestly taken – unlike the rich rulers [see 10:25-37; 18:18-23].
4. Jesus, the journeying guest, found in Zacchaeus a willingness to receive Jesus when so many were rejecting Him. Because of his faith, Jesus said in 19:9 that “Today salvation has come to this house [not to the house of Israel that has rejected Jesus], because he is also a son of Abraham [because he had the faith of Abraham, unlike the rejecters of Jesus].”

In this story we see Jesus, the Son of Man, completing His prophetic journey to Jerusalem with His eating and drinking with tax collectors and sinners (Lk. 5:27-30; 7:34). At the same time we see clearly the opposition and rejection of this journeying prophet (Lk. 19:7). The hindering of the Pharisees and Scribes has had its effect on the crowds, who “all” stand outside the house, building for themselves a “house of scorn and murmuring.” The Kingdom has come in their midst but they reject it.

The comparison between Zacchaeus and the crowds (including the Pharisees and Scribes) is complete. The choice must be made between following Jesus in faith, or standing in rejection of Him with the Pharisees. We have similar choices to make.

C. Parable of the Minas Luke 19:11-27

This third section (III. The Journey of the Son of Man to Jerusalem) ends with a parable to warn the crowds that their response to the Kingdom in their midst determines their place in His Kingdom that He is on His way to receive in power. 19:11 says that they thought that the Kingdom of God would appear immediately (as Jesus came to Jerusalem). They should have realized by this time that the Kingdom was in their midst, but they continued to seek a political Kingdom that would give them freedom from the Romans – without faith in Jesus!

He told them a parable about a nobleman that went to a far country to receive a kingdom and to return, just as Jesus has been journeying to Jerusalem to receive His Kingdom upon His return. The nobleman called upon His ten servants to faithfully take care of His business while He was away, giving each of them one mina (about three months wages). He already has citizens that hated Him. These enemies sent a delegation to hinder and further development of His authority over them, saying, “We will not have this man to rule over us.” [This represents the Pharisees hindering the crowds from receiving Jesus.] When the nobleman returned He called upon His servants to give an account for how they used the minas given to them (vv. 15-27). One said that he gained ten minas, and was declared to be a good and faithful servant. He was given authority over ten cities. Another said that he gained five minas, and was given authority over five cities. Another said that he had just kept the one mina safe. The nobleman declared him a wicked servant because he had not faithfully used the time while the master was away to make more money for Him. The story ends by the nobleman having His enemies that refused to have Him rule over them brought before Him and killed.

The point of the story is that Jesus has been journeying with a crowd of people that had hindered His authority and resisted His rule over them. The goal of His journey is Jerusalem, where He will be taken up (meaning to be killed, see 9:31, 51) as the rejected prophet and resurrected to receive His Kingdom in power as the Son of Man at the “right hand of God” and shall return and appear “like lightning” in judgment (Dan. 7:13-14; Lk. 17:24-35; 22:69). How His servants, the disciples, manage the wealth of His Kingdom as He journeys to Jerusalem to receive His Kingdom would determine their well-being and place in the Kingdom when He returns (see Lk. 9:57-62; 12:22-34; 35-38, 39-40; 16:1-9; 18:24-30). Those who are faithful in the Kingdom will be given responsibility to rule with Jesus in His Kingdom. Those who are unfaithful and reject Him will be brought into judgment and condemnation.

The Kingdom is indeed coming soon, with both judgment and mercy. As Jesus arrives at Jerusalem, the city that is already rejecting His message, God's judgment is being prepared because of its rejection of her King. If the people of Israel do not receive His kingdom announcement, there is nothing left for them except judgment. Jesus, the Messiah, the God and true King of Israel is coming to Jerusalem and the temple to make right all that had gone wrong with it through unbelief and corruption.

Now that Jesus has gone to Jerusalem, was killed by His enemies, resurrected and now sits at the right hand of the Father ruling His Kingdom, we must be a people that receive Him as King and submit ourselves to Him. By faith we are received as members of His Kingdom. By faithfulness to His word we show ourselves to be good servants that will be rewarded with blessing and Kingdom responsibilities. May we all be faithful servants of the true King that now rules all things.

Homework assignment: Read Luke 19-21. It is very important for you to read this large section because next week we will have to go through the material very quickly.

gospels is associated with, the office stressed, and the outline of the book of Luke.]

We now begin to look at the four and final section of the Gospel of Luke. We have seen that Jesus journeyed throughout Palestine as the great prophet/Messiah that was calling upon people to follow Him into the Kingdom by faith, repentance and faithfulness to His word. His coming now to Jerusalem was for Him to take up His Kingdom by being killed, raised again on the third day and ascending to the right hand of the Father to rule. Coming to Jerusalem meant not only salvation for those who believed in Him, but judgment on those who rejected Him. The King was indeed about to receive His Kingdom. But it would bring not only mercy and salvation for His faithful servants, but judgment and destruction upon Jerusalem and her children for rebellion and rejection of the King.

I. The Not So Triumphal Entry Luke 19:28-48

A. The Entry Intro Jerusalem Luke 19:28-40

After leaving Jericho at the end of the last section, Jesus went with His disciples on toward Jerusalem [Give and briefly explain to the students the map at the end of this lesson entitled, “The Entry Into Jerusalem.”] It is interesting to note that it is the large multitude of His disciples that are traveling with Him (19:29, 37). Read 19:37-38. Those who have chosen to follow Jesus in faith now travel with Jesus hailing Him as King as he rides to Jerusalem on the back of a donkey in fulfillment of a prophecy concerning the Messiah (Matt. 21:4; Zech. 9:1-9). [The Old Testament often pictures judges and ruler riding on donkeys. See Gen. 49:10-11; Judges 5:10; 10:4; 12:14; 1 Kings 1:33, 39. Jesus comes to Jerusalem now as Donkey-Judge and as King-elect, and then is crowned Horse-king at His ascension (cf. Rev. 6 where Jesus rides four horses).]

While we generally call this part of the story The Triumphal Entry, if we view it as Luke intends, it is not altogether triumphant. Vv. 39-40 tell us that some of the Pharisees called upon Jesus to rebuke His disciples for praising Him as the Messiah, indicating their continuing rejection of Him as the True King of Israel. Jesus replied to the Pharisees that if the disciples did not declare His coming to Jerusalem, the stones themselves would cry out (the reason for which we will see in a moment). Not only so, as the parable of the nobleman that journeyed to receive His kingdom taught us, the King would not only receive the Kingdom and give blessings to His faithful servants, but Jesus would also come in judgment against His enemies.

B. Jesus Wept Over Jerusalem Luke 19:40-44

Read Luke 13:34-35, where we see that although Jesus loved Jerusalem and Israel, because of her rejection of Him when He would come to Jerusalem (19:38-40), the house of Israel would be destroyed in Jerusalem. Now we see in vv. 41-44 that the Lord Jesus wept as He saw Jerusalem because the people that inhabited her did not know what would provide peace for her. Receiving Jesus in faith and repentance was what would give them peace. But Jesus wept because Israel were the citizens of His Kingdom that did not want Him to rule over them (cf. 19:14). The result of such rejection of her King would be the destruction of Jerusalem by the Romans in AD 70 (vv. 43-44), so that not one stone would be left on another. Thus, the stones that Jesus said would cry out in v. 40 would be crying out for judgment for rejection of the “King who comes in the name of the Lord.” When the King comes on this day, it is a visitation from God to His people. As with the Old Testament visitations, when the word of the Lord by the prophets is not heeded, saying, “Peace, Peace,” when there is no peace, then the Lord visits them with destruction (Jer. 6:14-15; 8:11; 10:15; Is. 29:6).

C. The Cleansing of the Temple Luke 19:45-48

After the Lord entered Jerusalem he went into the temple and drove out those who bought and sold there. He takes control of His house. He condemns those who are lovers of money (16:14), because they have turn His house, which should have been a house of prayer for the nations, into a den of thieves. To those who may still hear His prophetic warnings of the coming judgment, Jesus taught in the temple daily. The chief priests, scribes and leaders of the people sought to kill Him, but were unable because the people were very eager to hear Him.

II. The Authority of Jesus Luke 20:1-21:4

As Jesus preached the gospel to the people, the chief priests, scribes and leaders of the people challenged Jesus about His authority to teach (i.e. like asking Him who gave him permission or the right to teach). In response, Jesus asked them by what authority John the Baptist conducted his ministry. Was it from heaven or from men that John was commissioned to baptize? They did not want to answer because they feared the people listening. Because they refused to answer, Jesus did not answer their question about the authority by which He preaches. We of course know that the Father had sent Him to preach the goodnews. But Jesus did not dignify their evil thoughts with an answer. Instead, he told them the parable of the wicked vinedressers 10:9-19. A man planted a vineyard and hired people (vinedressers) to take care of the vineyard. God is like the owner of the vineyard, and the vinedressers are like the leaders of the people in the story. When it was time for harvest, he sent a servant to collect some of the fruit (this would represent the prophets sent by God to Israel, cf. 11:47-54). But the wicked vinedressers beat the servant and sent him away empty handed. This went on three times until the man sent His beloved Son, whom the wicked vinedressers killed. God had patiently sent the prophets to Israel, but certainly when the leaders of the Jews would kill the Son of God, God would judge them for their rejection of the Son and the Father. The chief priests and scribes wanted to arrest Jesus because they knew that He had spoken the parable against them, but feared the people. They just watched Him and sent spies who pretended to be righteous but were looking for ways to accuse Him of treason or rebellion before the governor (Pontius Pilate).

In vv. 20-26 they tried to get Jesus to say something wrong about paying taxes to Caesar. But He asked for a coin that had the writing and picture of Caesar on it. He said give to Caesar what is Caesar's, meaning pay the Roman taxes with Roman money. In vv. 27-40 some Sadducees came to trick with words. The Sadducees were the theological liberals of the day, religious leaders that did not believe in the resurrection of the dead. [Theological liberals of our day do not believe that Jesus was God, or the virgin birth, or that the Bible is without error. Very similar to the Sadducees.] Even though they did not believe in the resurrection, they asked Jesus if a woman ended up having seven husbands (all brothers fulfilling the levirate law, Deut. 25:5-10), whose wife would she be in the resurrection. Jesus responded by saying that in heaven there is neither marriage nor giving in marriage after the resurrection. He went on to explain that the Old Testament clearly taught the resurrection of the dead because God is the God of the living not the dead. The Sadducees decided not to question Jesus anymore.

Jesus went on to explain that He is the Christ, the Son of God in 20:41-44. He also warned His disciples in the hearing of all the people against the hypocrisy of the scribes. They will receive greater condemnation because they do things that oppress widows. At that moment Jesus saw the rich putting their gifts/offerings into the temple treasury. He also saw a poor widow putting in two mites (small copper coins, a small amount of money). He told the people that she put in more than all the others because she gave of all that she had.

III. The Destruction of Jerusalem Luke 21:5-38

Because people were talking about the beauty and greatness of the temple, Jesus said that the days were coming in which not one stone of the temple will be left upon another as Jerusalem and the temple would be destroyed (just as He said in 19:40, 44). They asked Jesus when and by what signs they would see that would warn them that this would happen. He answered that there would be many signs, including many false messiahs whom they should follow, wars among nations, earthquakes, famines and pestilences, fearful sights in the heavens and persecutions for the name of Jesus. But when they would see Jerusalem surrounded by armies (the Romans in AD 70) they should know that the desolation of Jerusalem and the temple would be near. He warned the believers to flee from Jerusalem at that time and be saved from the destruction. It would be a terrible day of vengeance from God, that all that was written in the Old Testament scripture may be fulfilled (Dan. 9:26-27; 12:7; Lev. 26:14-33; Deut. 28:15-68; 29:19-28). Jerusalem and would be trampled under foot by the Gentiles. Because the Jews would not only reject Christ but persecute the Christian Church as well, it would be a salvation for believers for Christ to come in judgment on Jerusalem (21:25-28). Jesus told the disciples that when they see these things happening, they should know that the Kingdom of God is near. He assured them in 21:29-33 that these things would happen in that wicked/evil/perverse generation (Lk. 3:7; 7:31; 9:41; 11:29; 16:8; 17:25; Acts 2:40). This section concludes with a warning for the disciples to live prayerfully, carefully in godliness and watchful for the coming of these days so that they would be worthy to escape the judgments.

21:37-38 shows us that Jesus is no longer the journeying guest who is received into homes. Instead, now that He had arrived at Jerusalem He would stay on the Mt. of Olives at night, and teach in the temple during the day, where all of the people came to hear Him.

While this passage dealing with the signs of the times deal with the events of that generation (contrary to many today who think Luke 19-21 was written with our generation in mind), there are still important things to be applied to our lives. As we live our lives for Christ, we too must recognize that there is much wickedness all around us. We must be assured by this passage that because Jesus is now the enthroned King, He will make all things right over time. He will protect us from those who would persecute us. We should also be very careful how we deal with those that oppose us. We should be like Jesus by telling the truth from the scriptures, but not get into arguments with people needlessly. We should pay our taxes and not be like those who are hypocrites. We should not take advantage of people (like widows who need our help). Rather, we should strive to live godly lives so that when He returns we will be received by Him with the word, “Well done, you good and faithful servant.”

gospels is associated with, the office stressed, and the outline of the book of Luke.]

Two weeks ago we saw in Luke 18:31-34 that Jesus told the disciples for the second time (first in Lk. 9:22) that He was going to Jerusalem to suffer and put to death at the hands of the Gentiles (Romans), and the third day He would rise again. But they understood nothing of what He was talking about because they were among those who thought that as Jesus came to Jerusalem that the Kingdom would come immediately, according to their conception of it (Lk.17:20; 19:11). As they came to Jerusalem they “began to rejoice and praise God with a loud voice because of all the mighty works they had seen, saying, “ ‘Blessed is the King who comes in the name of the LORD!’ Peace in heaven and glory in the highest!” Indeed Jesus was coming as King to bring peace on earth and goodwill toward men (Lk. 2:14), but He was also coming to bring judgment upon Israel for rejecting Him and the word of the God which He brought. The ones that should have been most able to understand His coming and most eager to receive Jesus were the chief priests, scribes and Pharisees because they most studied and knew the law and prophets (cf. 18:31). Instead, they were the ones that most pointedly rejected Him and hindered others from receiving Him in faith and repentance.

Throughout the week after He entered Jerusalem, Jesus taught the people in the temple by day and went out and stayed on the Mt. of Olives at night.

I. The Plot to Kill Jesus Luke 22:1-6

Turn to Luke 22:1-6 where we see that the Feast of Unleavened Bread (also known as Passover, Ex. 12:6-23; Lev. 23:5-6) was drawing near. At this time when the people of Israel should be celebrating their salvation by God at the Exodus and throughout her history, the chief priests and the scribes were plotting to kill the Lord Jesus. What is worse is that Judas Iscariot, Satan having entered Him, plotted with these murderous Jewish leaders to betray Him (cf. Jn. 6:70-71; 13:2, 27). Judas had been following Jesus, but not with faith and repentance. He was like them in that He loved money more than Jesus (Lk. 16:14; cf. Jn. 12:6; Zech. 11:12,13; Mt 26:15-16; 27:3-5; Ac 1:18). Do not be deceived, while money is a good gift that God gives His faithful servants to use for His Kingdom, you too may be tempted to betray Jesus for money. We all need to be watchful for our souls that we do not abandon our love for Jesus because of a love for money.

II. The Lord's Supper Luke 22:7-38

A. Preparation for Passover Luke 22:7-13

When the Day of Unleavened Bread came, when the Passover lamb must be killed, Jesus sent Peter and John to prepare the Passover meal for them to eat. Just as Jesus was continually a guest in people's homes as He journeyed to Jerusalem, so now, God prepared a home for His last meal with Jesus' disciples. They would know the house by the sign of a man carrying a pitcher of water into the house. They were to say that "the Teacher (remember, Jesus is the great prophet) says to you, 'Where is the guest room in which I may eat the Passover with My disciples?'" Then the man would show them the room in which they were to prepare the room. As so it was that they found it just as Jesus has said to them.

B. The Lord's Supper Luke 22:14-23

Throughout the book of Luke, Jesus had been inviting people to eat and drink with Him in His Kingdom. At the Mount of Transfiguration Moses and Elijah spoke to Jesus about His death/decease (literally in Greek the word used is His exodus). They ate the Passover that night before His exodus or death. Just as the first Exodus meant salvation for those who believed the word of God through Moses to put the blood of the lamb on their doorposts (including Egyptians that believed, Ex. 12:38), so too those who believed in Jesus would be saved through His blood, the Lamb of God that takes away the sins of the world (Jn. 1:29). Moreover, just as the first Exodus meant judgment for those who refused believe and trust in God for salvation through the blood, so too those who rejected the Son of Man would come under the judgments of God. By sharing this meal together on Passover they were not only remembering the past, but Jesus was demonstrating that He would deliver His people from the coming judgment by the sacrifice of His own body and blood. This would forever be a meal of remembrance or memorial that He has established His Kingdom by a new and everlasting covenant. Jesus said that He would not eat again the Passover until the Kingdom of God was fulfilled, which would take place after His death, resurrection and ascension. This meal was the most important meal that

He had ever eaten with His disciples, because in this meal He demonstrated all that He would do by His death for the salvation of the world.

Just as there were both believers and unbelievers outside of the Apostolic group, so too Jesus said that one of them would betray Him as had been determined by the Father, and revealed in the Old Testament scriptures (Ps. 22; Is. 53:1-12; Dan. 9:24-26; Zech. 13:7; cf. Acts 2:23; 4:25-28; 13:27-28). Although it was determined in advance that Jesus would be betrayed, Judas would certainly be woefully judged for it. The disciples questioned among themselves which of them it was. What is surprising about this passage is that Judas must not have been outwardly such a bad guy. The other disciples did not know that it was Judas that would betray Jesus. That is the way it is in the Church today. There are people that outwardly look like godly and righteous people, but are in fact those that willingly betray Jesus in their lives secretly.

C. Greatness in the Kingdom Luke 22:24-30

This discussion probably inspired an argument among the disciples about who would be the greatest in the Kingdom of God. Jesus explained to them that the greatest in the Kingdom would be those who are the greatest servants. Jesus was giving them the example of being the greatest (which He naturally was, being the Son of God) by serving them. Not only did He serve them at this meal (cf. Jn. 13:1-17), but He was about to serve us all by giving His life for us. By learning to serve others we become like Christ. He told His disciples that He was giving them a kingdom, just as His Father had given one to Him. He would eat and drink with them at His table in His Kingdom (the Lord's Supper) throughout history as they continued to do the work of the Kingdom.

D. Peter's Denial Predicted Luke 22:31-34

In vv. 31-34 Jesus told Peter that Satan had asked to cause Peter trouble of some kind ("Satan has asked for you, that he may sift you as wheat.") Jesus went on to say that He had prayed for Peter that His faith would not fail. Then He told him that when he returned that he should strengthen the faith of his brothers. Peter replied that he was prepared to go with Jesus both to prison and to death if necessary. Jesus then told Peter that he would deny Jesus three times. V. 3 said that Satan had entered Judas, and now we see that Peter would fall to the Satanic temptation to deny Jesus. But in this case, Satan would not be victorious over Peter.

E. Wallet, Bag and Sword Luke 22:35-38

In v. 35 Jesus reminded the disciples about how they had lacked nothing when the seventy went out on their mission in Luke 10, even though He sent them without a money bag, sack (for clothing and other goods) and extra sandals. He had told them at that time that they would be provided for by those to whom they went to preach. Now, He told them things would be different. He told them to take money if they had it, a sack and even a sword if they could get one. This was to fulfill the prophecy of Isaiah 53:12 that He would be numbered with the transgressors.

III. Prayer of the Mt. of Olives Luke 22:39-46

When they were finished with the Passover meal, Jesus went out with the disciples to the Mt. of Olives as He had been doing for the last week. He told them to pray that they would not be tempted (to deny Him). Jesus then went aside, knelt down and prayed, asking the Father to remove the cup of suffering and judgment that He would bear. But in this prayer, His submission to the Father was evident, “Not my will, but Yours be done” (v. 42). The Father answered His prayer by sending an angel to Him to strengthen Him. When He found the disciples sleeping He told them to get up and pray that they not enter into temptation. Clearly, they still did not understand what Jesus was about to do, or how difficult their trials would be. When we encounter trials and temptations of various kinds, we should not become weary and neglect to pray. For God will send us help us in our times of need as well.

IV. Betrayal and Arrest of the Son of Man Luke 22:47-53

While He was still speaking to them, Judas came with a great multitude and betrayed Jesus to the crowd with a kiss. The disciples at that moment understood what was about to happen. They asked Jesus if He wanted them to use the two swords they had brought to defend Him. One of the disciples struck the servant of the high priest with the sword and cut off his ear. V. 51 says that Jesus said that they should permit to His being arrested and healed the man. Then Jesus accused the chief priests, temple police and elders of arresting him falsely, saying, “Have you come out, as against a robber, with swords and clubs? When I was with you daily in the temple, you did not try to seize Me. But this is your hour, and the power of darkness.” Jesus had said in Luke 22:14 at the Passover meal that it was His hour. Now it is the hour for the power of darkness through the Jewish leaders motivated by the Devil to arrest Jesus. All of these events were planned for by God, and in due time everything happened according to His perfect wisdom and will.

V. Peter’s Denial Luke 22:54-62

After Jesus was arrested He was brought to the house of the high priest. Peter followed at a distance, and then sat with some people around a fire in the courtyard. As Jesus predicted, Peter denied Jesus three times. When he heard the rooster crow, Peter remembered what Jesus had said about him, and he went out and wept.

Both Judas and the Peter (along with the other disciples) betrayed Jesus that night. The difference is that Judas submitted to the influence of Satan and actively betrayed Him for money. The disciples, because of fear, merely deserted Jesus. They are eventually repented and were used by Christ in His Kingdom. We all have failures in our lives to live for Jesus when we should. The question for all of us is whether we are willing to repent of our sin and return to Him around His table. God uses sin sinlessly. In the case of Judas, God used His sin to send Jesus to the cross for the salvation of the world. In the case of Peter, God used His sin to strengthen the church when He repented (Lk. 22: 32). May God use the sins of those around us and in us to make us more perfect servants of Christ in His Kingdom.

In our last lesson we saw that Jesus was betrayed not just by Judas, but He was denied and deserted by His disciples. Today we will look at two parts of the passion of Jesus: The Trials and the Crucifixion.

I. The Trials Luke 22:63-23:25

In the trials Jesus faced three separate courts: The Sanhedrin (which was the ruling body of Jewish society), the Roman court with Pilate presiding, and the court of Herod (the Idumaeen King of the Jews). In these trials Jesus said very little – only enough to declare who He is: The Son of Man (22:70), the King of the Jews (23:4). Jesus did not answer Herod at all. He had been traveling to Jerusalem for the purpose of dying for the sins of His people (9:22; 31, 51; 18:31-33). He made no answer to demonstrate His innocence or try to avoid death. It was the will of His Father for Him to die (22:42).

What is interesting is that Luke shows us in the book of Acts that Jesus’ disciples would follow Him through these same trials. But Jesus had promised that the Holy Spirit would give them the words to say as they went through the various courts. They were to answer the accusations made against them because they were to be His witnesses in the world. [Peter and John were taken before the Sanhedrin (Acts 4:5-22); the Apostles were arrested and put on trial by the Sanhedrin (Acts 5:17-41). Stephan was arrested and put to martyrred/killed (our word for martyr comes from the Greek word to be a witness) because of His preaching (Acts 6:12-7:60). Herod persecuted the Church and killed James and put Peter in prison (Acts 12:19). Paul was persecuted primarily by the Jews throughout his missionary journeys. It was the Roman courts and officials that generally sought to free Paul (just as Pilate did with Jesus). Paul was arrested and tried by the Sanhedrin but was helped by the Roman commander (Acts 21:27-23:22). Paul was accused by the rulers of the Jews in the Roman courts before Felix and Festus, and eventually appealed to Caesar (Acts 23:23-25:12). Paul was sent to Herod Agrippa by Festus to be tried (Acts 25:13-31). Paul was sent to Rome to be tried before the Roman emperor, Caesar (Acts 26:32). We know that Paul was released after this.]

Whereas Jesus was tried by the Jewish, Roman and Herodian courts but said nothing to avoid His death, the Apostles before these same courts were given opportunity to preach the gospel in the power of the Holy Spirit and to seek to save their lives in order to continue to preach. We too have been given the gift of the Holy Spirit who will provide us with the words to speak for Christ before the world. As we have opportunity to speak for Christ, we should boldly proclaim the message of the gospel of Jesus who died for us.

A. The Sanhedrin Luke 22:54, 63-71

The Sanhedrin was the ruling body of the Jewish society made up of the elders of the people, chief priests and scribes/lawyers. They were religious leaders that governed the nation. When the Romans conquered Palestine they allowed the Jews to continue to worship in the temple and to rule themselves under Roman control. The Sanhedrin continued to try cases that were subject to Jewish law, while the Romans dealt with all matters pertaining to Roman law. The Jews could enact any punishments that they saw fit except the death penalty.

When Jesus was arrested in the Garden of Gethsemane, He was taken to the house of the high priest because it was night and a trial could not take place at night. While they waited for the Sanhedrin to gather in the morning Jesus was mocked and beaten by the men that held Him. They blind folded Jesus and struck Him on the face and called upon Him to “Prophecy” (probably about who had hit Him), and blasphemed against Him in many other ways (Lk. 22:54, 63-65). Luke brings this fact into the story because he has so carefully demonstrated that Jesus was the great prophet that was to come to preach a gospel of repentance for the restoration of Israel and the salvation of the nations.

When it was day (the legal time for trials) the Sanhedrin gathered together and brought Jesus before them. When Jesus is called upon to testify about Himself (if He was the Christ/Messiah), He refused to answer the question, but said that they would see the “Son of Man sitting on the right hand of the power of God.” When they determined that Jesus believed Himself to be the Son of God, assuming that He was not, they concluded the trial without a penalty/sentence. Because they could not implement the death penalty they needed to convince Pilate to pass judgment and execute the sentence they desired.

B. Pilate Luke 23:1-5

Pilate received Jesus from the Sanhedrin. We are led to believe from 22:66-71 that the charge against Jesus was blasphemy (which means to insult or show a lack of respect for God). But before Pilate we see that the Sanhedrin is dishonest and impure. The charge before Pilate in 23:2 is, “We found this fellow perverting the nation, and forbidding to pay taxes to Caesar, saying that He Himself is Christ, a King.” In order for them to convince Pilate to put Jesus to death, they had to lie and make it appear that He was a threat to the Roman government of Israel. Certainly Jesus is the Christ, the anointed King. But He had not caused rebellion in the nation or forbade people to pay taxes (on the contrary, Jesus told them to give to Caesar what is Caesar’s, Lk. 20:20-26). Pilate asked Jesus if He was the King of the Jews. Jesus answered, “It is as you say.” Pilate did not see anything wrong with this since the Jews were allowed to have their own government, and said that he saw no fault in Him. But the Jews became more fiercely angry and said that He had stirred people up (which they were envious of) from Galilee to Jerusalem (remember the Galilean ministry).

C. Herod of Galilee Luke 23:6-12

When Pilate heard that Jesus had been active in Galilee he determined to let Herod deal with the problem because Herod’s ruled Israel from Galilee. Herod was appointed the tetrarch (ruler or minor king) over Galilee by the Roman Caesar. He thought that He could make the Jews happy by sending Jesus to Herod. Being a Jew, Herod was in Jerusalem for the Passover. Pilate did not have to send Jesus to Herod because the charge was made in Jerusalem, but thought it would be an act of friendliness to Herod to let him pass judgment.

When Jesus arrived Herod was exceedingly glad because he had heard of the miracles that Jesus had done and hoped Jesus would do one for him. Herod questioned Jesus, but He answered him nothing (23:8-9). The Jews continued to accuse Jesus expecting Herod to pass judgment, but all that Herod did was to mock and mistreat Jesus and sent Him back to Pilate. Herod and Pilate had been political enemies before this, but this event made them into friends because they showed respect for one another (23:12).

D. Pilate Luke 23:13-25

When Jesus was returned to Pilate he called the rulers of the Jews together and declared that he had found no guilt in Jesus as one who misleads the people and pointed out that neither did Herod find anything in Jesus worthy of death. He said that he was willing to punish Jesus (by flogging/whipping Him) and release Him. It was the custom to release a prisoner during the celebration of Passover. The leaders of the Jews cried out that they want Jesus killed and Barabas released. Luke tells us that Barabas was truly a rebellious man who had committed murder. The contrast is clear. They had accused Jesus of rebellion against Roman authority, but were themselves willing to have a true rebel released. They cried out for Jesus to be crucified. Pilate again said that He would punish Jesus and release Him because he could see no evil in Him, but the Jewish leaders called out all the more. V. 24 says that Pilate gave the sentence that they requested.

As Luke later pointed out in Acts 3:13-15, while it was Pilate that put Jesus to death, it was the Jews that had rejected Jesus and caused His death.

The God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, the God of our fathers, glorified His Servant Jesus, whom you delivered up and denied in the presence of Pilate, when he was determined to let Him go. But you denied the Holy One and the Just, and asked for a murderer to be granted to you, and killed the Prince of life, whom God raised from the dead, of which we are witnesses.”

Just as Jesus had said, He would be delivered to Gentiles by the Jews to be killed (Lk. 9:22; 18:31-34). It was because of this rejection of Jesus that these murderers would be judged by God (Lk. 11:47-54; 13:34-35; 19:41-44). But just as Jesus had predicted His death, He also said that He would be raised from the dead.

II. The Crucifixion Luke 23:26-56

As Jesus was led away to be crucified, a man named Simon was compelled to carry His cross. A great multitude followed Him (as they had so often done on His way to Jerusalem), and many women were mourning and weeping for Him. He turned to them and told them that they should weep for themselves because of the judgment that would come upon Israel for their rejection of Him (23:26-31).

Two other criminals were crucified with Him, one on His right and the other on His left. Jesus asked the Father to forgive the people that were crucifying Him (the Roman soldiers) because they did not know what they were doing (unlike the Jews). The people watched as the Jewish rulers and the soldiers mocked Jesus. They put a sign above Jesus that said in Greek, Latin and Hebrew, “THIS IS THE KING OF THE JEWS.” Then one of the criminals crucified with Jesus mocked Him, but the other defended Jesus and asked to be remembered by Jesus in His Kingdom. Jesus assured the man that He would be with Him in paradise (23:32-43). Jesus is always willing to receive those who receive Him, and forgive those who come to Him.

As the day of agony progressed, there was darkness over the whole earth for three hours. The sun was darkened and the veil of the temple was torn in two, indicating that the way into the most holy place before the throne of God was opened. Then Jesus cried out with a loud voice, “Father, into Your hand I commend My spirit,” and Jesus breathed His last. The whole crowd and the disciples from a distance looked on as Jesus died. Even the centurion that put Jesus to death glorified God and said in faith, “Certainly this was a righteous man!”

Even at the point of His death, Jesus was the Son of Man that came to seek and to save that which was lost. The criminal on the cross next to Him and the centurion were brought to faith and salvation. Jesus came seeking the outcasts of society (tax collectors and sinners, criminals and centurions) and saved them by His loving grace. The story of the death of Jesus concludes in 23:50-56 by showing that there was one man in the Sanhedrin that did not agree with the judgment of the council, Joseph of Arimathea, who was waiting for the kingdom of God. He went to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus and wrapped it in a linen cloth and placed it in a tomb. The women that had been traveling with Jesus from Galilee (Lk. 7:36-8:3) saw where the tomb was and then returned to prepare the spices and fragrant oils for burial. They were not able to properly prepare His body for burial because they needed to keep the Sabbath as required by the commandment.

The Son of man that came to seek and to save that which was lost, gave His life for us that we might be found and brought into His Kingdom. May we ever be faithful to Him who loved us so much that He was willing to give His life for us.

From the beginning to the end of Luke, the people that were confronted with what God was doing were surprised. From the virgin birth of Jesus and astonishing birth of John, and the amazing appearance of the angels to the shepherds, to the boyhood of Jesus – everyone was amazed. The coming of Jesus represented a series of grand reversals of the expectations that people had. Sinners would be saved, while those thought righteous would be excluded and judged in the Kingdom. The rich would become poor. The mighty would be brought down, while the lowly would be exalted. God had come to bring peace on the earth to men of good will. The people were astonished by the teachings of Jesus because they were not like that of the Pharisees of the day. John’s message and actions seemed consistent in the minds of many people to that of the religious leaders because he often fasted and made prayers (5:33), while Jesus came eating and drinking in fellowship with sinners and tax collectors (even John the Baptist was confused about who Jesus was, cf. Lk. 7:18ff). Jesus’ teaching was widely received by many, but on the whole He was rejected by that wicked and perverse generation. He was the great prophet that was rejected like most of the other prophets God had sent to Israel throughout her history. This was not what they expected out of the Messiah. He healed on the Sabbath and fellowshiped with sinners. He spoke of the coming of the Kingdom of God as being in their midst, but they were still under the domination of Rome. Even the disciples were confused about the Messiah, expecting Jesus to come and restore Israel to her former glory and place as the center of the world. They expected at the Triumphal Entry that the Kingdom would immediately come, even though Jesus had specifically told them that He would suffer at the hands of wicked men. They were confused at almost every level because of their mistaken expectations.

Luke 23:49 tells us that all His acquaintances and the women that followed Him from Galilee stood at a distance and watched Him die – as all of their expectations and hopes died with Him. The one whom they thought was the Messiah, the King of Israel, was dead. There was nothing left to do but to bury Jesus and move on. The women saw where He had been laid in the tomb and returned to keep the Sabbath and prepare the burial spices for His body.

I. He Is Risen Luke 24:1-12

On the first day of week, following the Sabbath, the women that had followed Him from Galilee went to the tomb very early in the morning to anoint His body with the spices. When they went in they did not find the body of the Lord Jesus. They were very confused about this, but two men appeared to them (angels) in shining clothes. They were afraid and bowed their faces to the earth, and they said to them (vv. 6-7), “Why do you seek the living among the dead? He is not here, but is risen! Remember how He spoke to you when He was still in Galilee, saying, ‘The Son of Man must be delivered into the hands of sinful men, and be crucified, and the third day rise again.’ ”

And they remembered His words. They remembered that Jesus had said that He would be raised from the dead (cf. 9:22; 18:31-33; 24:44-46). By remembering they were able to turn their grief and confusion into joy and witness. They were able to go forth to tell others what had happened. They returned from the tomb and told the eleven apostles and the other disciples what they had seen and heard. But just as the disciples did not understand or believe what Jesus had said about His death and resurrection, they did not understand or believe what the women said about it. Peter got up and ran to the tomb and saw the linen clothes lying in the tomb just as the women had said, and he marveled to himself because he knew that something had happened.

What is interesting about this record of the resurrection of Jesus is that it does not give us many of the details that the other gospels do. We are left at this point of the story with a feeling of suspense about what happened. Jesus had risen from the dead, but where was He? Luke focuses our attention on the witness of the women to the disciples and their disbelief. The disciples still could not believe what their Lord had been telling them all along, from the time they began journeying from Galilee to Jerusalem.

II. The road to Emmaus - Eyes opened at table

Luke 24:13-31

The story continues with two of the followers of Jesus travelling on the same day that Jesus rose from the dead to a village named Emmaus (about 7 miles NW of Jerusalem). While they walked and talked about all the things that had happened in the last three days, Jesus Himself came and walked with them. V. 16 tells us that “their eyes were restrained so that they did not know Him.” He asked them what they were discussing that was so sad. They were astonished that this journeying stranger did not know about “Jesus of Nazareth, who was a Prophet mighty in deed and word before God and all the people, and how the chief priests and our rulers delivered Him to be condemned to death, and crucified Him. But we were hoping that it was He who was going to redeem Israel.” V. 21 tells us the expectation they had – that He would redeem Israel, freeing them from the domination of Rome. This is why they were so sad – they had expected the Kingdom of God to come and that they would be free from Rome. What a small vision they had for the Kingdom of God. But their eyes were still closed in unbelief. Hopefully, having read the book of Luke, you do not have such a small vision of what the Kingdom of God is! Jesus, the “Prophet mighty in deed and word” has come to save lost sinners and will bring peace because He is the ruler of the whole world.

These disciples continued their narrative of the events of the day by saying in vv. 22-24 that certain women of their company/group surprised them when they returned from the tomb earlier that day and had told them that they did not find the body of Jesus and had seen a vision of angels who said He was alive. They said that certain of those who were with them (Peter) had gone to the tomb and found it just as the women had said, but they did not SEE Jesus. Notice by this that the disciples were depending upon their ability to see Jesus in order to believe what He had said to them. Vv. 25-27 says,

“Then He said to them, “O foolish ones, and slow of heart to believe in all that the prophets have spoken! Ought not the Christ to have suffered these things and to enter into His glory?” And beginning at Moses and all the Prophets, He expounded to them in all the Scriptures the things concerning Himself.”

Not only had Jesus (the Prophet mighty in deed and word) told them what would happen to Him and they did not believe, but also the whole Old Testament scriptures had spoken of these things. Jesus called them foolish because they were slow of heart to believe in what God had spoken to them through the prophets. It was necessary for the Messiah to suffer these things and then enter His glory as the King. They had been given all the information and seen all that they needed to see in order to believe, but they were slow of heart to believe. The lesson for us is that we too must be careful to believe what God has given to us in His word. We must believe His Word, even when we find it hard to see the truth.

At this point the two disciples still had their eyes restrained from knowing Jesus. As they came to Emmaus they convinced Jesus to stay with them, even though Jesus had indicated that He would have gone farther. So the journeying guest entered to stay with them (v. 29). As He was received at table, this guest behaved most unusually: He took over as the host! Taking bread, He blessed and broke it, and gave it to them, just as He had done so often before, especially on His last night with them as the Passover meal. Then, and only then, were their eyes opened and they knew Him in faith. He vanished from their sight, but they knew Him for the first time. As the Lord of the Banquet, Jesus revealed Himself to His disciples. This scene is key to understanding the whole book of Luke, especially all of the meal scenes in the Gospel. Jesus reveals Himself to all that receive Him in faith. Those who continue to reject Him will not eat and drink with Him in the Kingdom.

He continues to reveal Himself to us at His banquet each Lord's Day. We may struggle to live in faith at times, but when we sit and eat with Jesus at the Lord's Supper, He reveals Himself to us. He shows us who He is and what He has done for us in the Supper. He fellowships with us, giving us eyes to see and hearts to believe His Word.

The two disciples said to one another that their hearts burned within them as Jesus spoke to them and opened the scriptures to them. Then they rose up and told the other disciples in Jerusalem that indeed Jesus had risen from the dead and that He was known to them in the breaking of the bread (vv. 32-35). When they had spoken these things, Jesus stood in the midst of them and said, "Peace to you." But they were terrified and frightened, thinking that they were seeing a ghost. But Jesus asked them why they were troubled and doubting in their hearts (like the two on the road, v. 25). He encouraged them to see and touch Him to know that He had risen from the dead. They were still needing to see what their hearts could not believe (v. 41). When Jesus asked for food, they gave Him some fish and honeycomb and He took it and ate in their presence. Vv. 44-47 reads,

Then He said to them, "These are the words which I spoke to you while I was still with you, that all things must be fulfilled which were written in the Law of Moses and the Prophets and the Psalms concerning Me." And He opened their understanding, that they might comprehend the Scriptures. Then He said to them, "Thus it is written, and thus it was necessary for the Christ to suffer and to rise from the dead the third day, and that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in His name to all nations, beginning at Jerusalem.

Again, His eating with His disciples is linked to the revelation of who He is: "He opened their understanding, that they might understand the Scriptures." The whole of scripture pointed forward to the suffering death and resurrection of the Messiah, the purpose of which was to bring repentance and forgiveness of sins, not only for Israel, but for all the nations. The fulfillment of this purpose would be accomplished through the disciples as they became witnesses of these things to the nations. With these words, Jesus announced a new journey, this time beginning from Jerusalem. They were to wait in Jerusalem for the coming of the Holy Spirit, and then they were to go out in the power of the Holy Spirit into the world to be witnesses of all that had taken place through Jesus. Jesus then led them out as far as Bethany and lifted up His hands and blessed them, and was carried up into heaven. The Gospel of Luke ends with the disciples worshipping Jesus in faith and joy in Jerusalem, continually in the temple praising and blessing God – waiting for the coming of the Holy Spirit as Jesus promised. The story is continued in the book of Acts, where we see that the disciples were indeed witnesses that proclaimed repentance and forgiveness of sins in the name of Jesus throughout the world. Indeed the disciples of Jesus have suffered many things as they witness to the world (the word translated “witness” in our Bibles is in the original Greek the word for “martyr”). The suffering and martyrdom of the followers of Jesus is just as necessary for the salvation of the world as was the death of Jesus. But through the suffering and death of Jesus and His disciples the whole world will be brought into the peace of the Kingdom of God.

May God cause each of us to desire to follow after Jesus, and deny ourselves and take up our cross and follow Him daily (cf. 9:23). Let us with the disciples joyfully worship God, continually praising and blessing Him in the world as we increasingly become witnesses by the power of the Holy Spirit. Let us not shrink back from the difficulty of living for Jesus in this world, but go forth to preach the goodnews of the Kingdom that in Jesus is repentance and forgiveness of sins.

With the last word of the Gospel of Luke, let us say to together “Amen!” which means, “SO MAY IT BE!”
